Boyle Questions Testimony Kennedy Challenged

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's account of the accident that killed Mary Jo Kopechne was challenged Wednesday by an inquest judge who said he did not believe the senator intended to leave Chappaquiddick Island with the 28-year-old secretary before his automobile plunged from a narrow bridge.

Judge James A. Boyle said, in his judgment, Kennedy turned intentionally onto the unpaved road which led toward Dyke Bridge—and away from the ferry the senator said he planned to take.

Boyle said there was cause to believe Kennedy drove negligently, in a way which "appears to have contributed to the death of Mary Jo Kopechne."

Kennedy's reply was instant: he rejected the judge's findings. "At the inquest I truthfully answered all questions asked of me," he said in Washington. "In my personal view, the inference and ultimate finding of that judge's report are not justified and I reject them."

Boyle could not be reached for comment on why he did not file charges against Kennedy for driving negligently. Conviction on such a charge carries a maximum penalty of two years in jail and a fine of $200.

Kennedy, on July 25, pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and was given the minimum sentence—two months in jail, suspended, and probation for one year.

It was not certain whether a new grand jury to be sworn in next month for Dukes County could reopen an investigation and review the report made public Wednesday.

A grand jury met in special session this month to investigate the accident and came up with no findings. It was denied access to the transcript released Wednesday.

The State Supreme Court had ruled that the judge's report and transcript of testimony at the inquest could not be made public until all possibility of further prosecution in the case had ended.

The 3½-day inquest, behind the closed doors of Boyle's district court at Edgartown, ended Jan. 8. Only when all prospects of prosecution had passed did the courts clear the transcript, and the Boyle report for public release.

Boyle, who is retiring Thursday as a judge, recited inquest evidence, then delivered this finding:

"I infer a reasonable and probable explanation of the totality of the above facts is that Kennedy and Kopechne did not intend to return to Edgartown at that time; that Kennedy did not intend to drive to the ferry slip and his turn onto Dyke Road was intentional. Having reached this conclusion, the question then arises as to whether there was anything criminal in his operation of the motor vehicle."

The judge said he was convinced the bridge is a traffic hazard which must be approached with extreme caution. "A speed of even 20 miles per hour, as Kennedy testified to operating a car as large as this Oldsmobile, would at least be negligent and, possibly, reckless," he said. "If Kennedy knew of this hazard, his operation of the vehicle constituted criminal conduct."

During his questioning by Boyle and Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis, Kennedy testified he had a "portion of beer" at the Shiretown Inn before going to Chappaquiddick for the cookout that preceded the fatal accident.

Shortly after his arrival at the cottage, he said, he had a rum and Coca Cola at about 8 o'clock and a second one an hour later.

He testified he had dinner about 10 o'clock.

Kennedy said when he drove away from the cottage to take Miss Kopechne to the ferry, he was "absolutely sober."

Kennedy testified that he had been familiar with Martha's Vineyard Island for 30 years. He said, however, his visit the day of the accident was the first he ever made to Chappaquiddick Island. The latter is a smaller body of land which lies just off Edgartown on the Vineyard.

Kennedy testified it was about 11:15 p.m. at the cottage party when he decided to leave for Edgartown and his room at the Shiretown Inn. He was talking with Miss Kopechne at the time, he said.

"She indicated to me she was desirous of leaving if I would be kind enough to drop her back at her hotel," he testified.

He said that while John J. Crimmins drove his car "on practically every occasion," he asked for the keys so that Crimmins would not have to interrupt his meal.

Earlier in the day it was Crimmins who drove Kennedy from the rented cottage, across the Dyke Bridge to the South Beach on Chappaquiddick where Kennedy took a swim.

Kennedy said he drove that night with Miss Kopechne in the front seat with him, and then he testified:

"Well, I traveled down, I believe it is Main Street, took a right on Dyke Road and drove off the bridge at Dyke Bridge."

He denied that he stopped the car at any point during that short trip, or that he had turned at any time into Cemetery Road.

Kennedy said he saw no other persons or cars on the road that night, either while driving to the bridge or when he returned to the cottage.

Boyle asked Kennedy about when he realized he was not on the road to the ferry.

Q. At any time after you got from the cottage, did you have a realization that you were on the wrong road?

A. No.

Food Prices Lower In Wholesale Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government issued Wednesday the most hopeful communique to date in President Nixon's battle against inflation—a preliminary report indicating the first drop in wholesale prices in 20 months.

However, all the decline was for food while most of a broad range of industrial raw materials continued rising.

"If later confirmed by more complete figures, the decrease would be the first since August, 1968," said the Labor Department of the indicated drop of one-tenth of one per cent in its Wholesale Price Index.

The decline brought the index down to 116.5, meaning it cost $116.50 in April on the average for every $100 worth of goods at wholesale in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Many economists view the wholesale index as a partial forecast of retail price behavior later. The government's Consumer Price Index, measuring living costs at the retail level, has been rising at an annual rate of 6 per cent for more than a year, sharpest climb in 20 years.

Wholesale prices were 4.1 per cent above a year ago, down from a 4.8 annual rate in January.

The decline in April wholesale prices was due to a sharp drop of 1.2 per cent for farm products, processed foods and feeds, which are subject to frequent fluctuations due to weather and market factors.

Wholesale prices continued to rise—three-tenths of one per cent this month—for industrial raw materials such as metals, coal, electric power, chemicals, paper, lumber and other commodities that go into manufactured products.

Still, industrials were down to a 3.6 per cent annual rise from 4 per cent at the start of the year.

"Price declines for hogs, cattle and eggs caused most of the drop in the farm products index; fresh and dried vegetables and live poultry moved down significantly. A substantial decrease for meats, poultry and fish was chiefly responsible for the lower index for processed foods and feeds, with higher prices for dairy products and manufactured animal feeds as the principal offsets," said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Two State Men Killed In War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Defense Wednesday released the names of two Illinois servicemen killed in action in Vietnam.

They were: Army Spec. 4 Michael G. Bazel, husband of Stephanie A. Bazel, 6405 S. Artesian St., Chicago; and Pfc. Bruce H. Bardon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Bardon, 1217 Locust Blvd., Quincy.

Claim Russians Flying For Egypt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department described as "serious" and "potentially dangerous" Wednesday what it said is independent evidence that Soviet pilots are flying combat planes in Egypt.

President Nixon "has ordered an immediate and full evaluation of intelligence reports and the implication of them on the strategic balance in the Middle East," said White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Other authoritative sources said the administration will "take another hard look at its decision to postpone action on Israel's request for additional airplanes. These sources said the Soviet Union has upset the "qualitative balance of power" in the area.

Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson said in a New York speech that if one of the two superpowers in this case the Soviet Union, involves itself militarily in the Middle East, "it is inevitable that the other will take notice and react."

Whether this reaction will be U.S. compliance with Israel's request for 25 Phantom and 100 Skyhawk planes, nobody would say, Ziegler said the President is keeping a close watch on developments in the Middle East.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey indicated the United States will promptly seek contact with the Soviets on the new situation.

The United States, McCloskey said, has independent evidence of the Soviets flying combat aircraft in the area, meaning that the concern in Washington over the new situation was not based on informants said, sent word to Washington about a week ago that its airplanes have encountered MIG-21 airplanes with Soviet pilots in Egypt's airspace.

The Nixon administration's decision not to grant additional airplanes to Israel was based on a careful assessment of the military balance in the Middle East. The result of this assessment was that while the Arabs had a numerical advantage, Israel enjoyed an unquestionable qualitative superiority.

News From Cambodia Makes Market Jittery

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pulled up from a slump Wednesday and registered one of its biggest gains this year.

The Dow Jones industrial average surged ahead 13.06 to 737.39. For the first time in 20 consecutive sessions on the New York Stock Exchange winners outnumbered losers: 906 to 387 among the 1,625 issues traded.

Trading was heavy with the New York exchange tape running three minutes behind at the closing bell. Volume rose to 15.8 million shares from the 12.62 million shares traded Tuesday.

The market seasawed on the Pentagon's announcement that the United States will send advisers into Cambodia with South Vietnamese operations. The news drove back a strong rally. The Dow average had been up over 7 points at 11:30 a.m. In the next hour following the announcement the average plunged nearly 11 points to a 4-point loss.

"The market is so damned nervous that it blows these things out of proportion," said Charles M. Lewis, an analyst with the New York brokerage firm of Treves & Co. "The fact that our action might save 10,000 or 15,000 lives has been discounted. Wall Street blew this out of proportion. They panicked."

"The market was acting firm this morning, particularly after the President's remarks Tuesday that he would buy stocks himself if he had the money," he said.

Wednesday's performance was the best day this year since March 25, when the Dow average jumped 16.37 points. That was when the country's biggest banks cut back their prime interest rate—the rate they charge their largest and most creditworthy customers—to 8 per cent from the record 8.5 per cent.

Military Advisers, Bombing Strikes

Nixon Announces Cambodia Involvement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced Wednesday it is providing military advisers, bombing strikes and other support for a major South Vietnamese attack on Communist forces operating in Cambodia.

The move appeared to add a whole new dimension to American involvement in Southeast Asia and the news quickly produced these results:

—President Nixon announced he will explain the step to the nation Thursday evening in a speech to be broadcast on television and radio.

—Cries of alarm arose in the Senate from those who have been pressing for U.S. disengagement from Southeast Asia.

—The stock market which had moved up from Tuesday's six-year low point was hit by a selling wave that sent prices quickly over to the minus side. However, after the Dow Jones industrial average had been pushed more than four points below the Tuesday close, strong buying developed and it closed with a gain of more than 13 points.

Thousands of South Vietnamese troops surge into Cambodia. See story on page 10.

"Cambodia is a whole new ball game," Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., declared. "If we become involved directly or indirectly, it becomes a general Indochina war."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., called U.S. support of the South Vietnamese operation a great mistake and said this goes far beyond Cambodia's outstanding request for aid to the White House.

Some military officers felt that the operation, while directed mainly against enemy troops using Cambodia as a refuge from the Vietnam battlefield, probably would ease Communist pressure on the new Cambodian government which recently deposed Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

The South Vietnamese Defense Ministry in Saigon first announced the big push over the Cambodian border, saying its assault against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces taking sanctuary in Cambodia had American approval.

The Pentagon confirmed this later and termed the action "a necessary and effective measure to save American and other free world lives and to strengthen the Vietnamization program."

The assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, Daniel Z. Henkin, read a statement to reporters, with virtually no elaboration, which said the U.S. military command in Saigon "is prepared to provide support" to the South Vietnamese.

"This support will take the form of advisers, tactical air, air coordinators, medical evacuation and some logistics assistance," Henkin said.

Questions he declined to answer included whether American advisers would go into Cambodia on the ground and whether the tactical air support meant that the big American B52 bombers would be wheeled out for a Cambodian bombing role.

Henkin said the United States was fully consulted before the South Vietnamese launched their operation.

He described the targets as an extensive complex of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong bases and depots in Cambodian territory 35 miles from Saigon in the so-called Parrot's Beak area, where the Cambodian boundary juts inward toward South Vietnam's capital city.

"These bases and depots have posed an increasing threat to the security of free world forces in South Vietnam as a result of increased enemy activities in Cambodia and along the Cambodian-South Vietnamese borders," Henkin said.

The South Vietnamese Defense Ministry said also the operation was undertaken "with a view to neutralizing the North Vietnamese Communists' scheme of using the Cambodian territory as operation bases to infiltrate, shell and attack the territory of the Republic of Vietnam."

It was the first official acknowledgment of armed attacks in Cambodia by the South Vietnamese although other operations had been reported unofficially since the March 18 overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

There had been indications in the last few days that the Nixon administration was debating a broadened U.S. role in the Cambodian situation.

The White House said last Friday the presence of 40,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in Cambodia constituted "a foreign invasion."

At the same time, top military officers were saying privately that unless Cambodia received outside help quickly the new government in Cambodia might fall within a few weeks.

The military argument was that the United States should try to exploit the Cambodian situation by shoring up the new government in Phnom Penh with arms, if not advisers, and put pressure on the enemy forces operating in that country.

As late as Monday, the White House was saying "We have an overriding interest" in Cambodia, insofar as the security of U.S. forces in Vietnam would be affected by a Communist takeover in Phnom Penh.

The White House has not yet acted on a Cambodian request for military arms although it was announced a few days ago that the South Vietnamese would give the Cambodians several thousand Soviet-made automatic weapons which had been retrieved from the battlefield in South Vietnam.

Pentagon officers generally express satisfaction at the American-supported South Vietnamese thrust into Cambodia.

"Cambodia has been a part of the war all along," one officer commented. "We have been taking it from there but not giving it."

Need For Reform On Health Care

"The high cost of being sick is fast becoming a national scandal."

"Billions of taxpayer dollars are being spent to support Medicare and the program is running up a huge deficit."

"Soaring demands for medical care created by growing public awareness, by hospital and medical insurance and by Medicare and Medicaid, are swamping the system."

Charges like these could be multiplied, and undoubtedly will be multiplied as the nation moves closer to the goal of adding to the basic rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness the right of the enjoyment of good health.

High on the list of suggested means of attaining this right is some form of national health insurance. Wilbur J. Cohen, former secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, has advocated a gradual extension of Medicare to include all Americans, from infant to aged, by 1976, when we commemorate the 200th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

But national health insurance, desirable as it may be, can only make things worse if other reforms are not first made in the medical-care system, argues Sidney R. Garfield, M.D., a director of the Kaiser Foundation Health Plan and Hospitals.

Picture what would happen to, say, transportation service, he writes in an article in Scientific American. If fares were suddenly eliminated and travel became a right. What would happen to our already overtaxed airports and what chance would anyone have of getting anywhere if he really needed to? National health insurance, if it were legislated today, would have the same effect, he says.

What is needed is to devise a new "regulator" to replace the traditional fee for service paid by patient to doctor—one more sensitive to real medical need than to ability to pay and that could help to separate the well from the sick and establish treatment priorities for the sick at the most economical use of vital medical manpower.

Garfield proposes health-testing and referral services for all patients at the point of entry into the medical system. After clinical testing and diagnosis, a patient would be referred further along the system as his situation required.

There needs to be reform at the other end of the medical system, too—the point where the recovered or recovering patient is ready to leave.

Millions of dollars in present Medicare costs could be saved immediately if recuperating hospital patients no longer in need of intensive care could be transferred to nursing homes for extended care, at about one-third the cost of hospitals, which now cost up to $100 a day, claims Berkeley V. Bennett, executive vice-president of the National Council of Health Care Service.

Yet under arbitrary rulings of the Social Security Administration, which supervises Medicare, thousands of patients are kept in high-priced hospitals much longer than necessary, he says. This has sometimes happened even though a physician may have recommended that a patient be transferred to a nursing home, and despite the fact that under Medicare a patient is eligible for up to 100 days of extended facility care.

Curiously enough, says Bennett, Medicare authorities don't seem to mind continuing to pay the far more expensive hospital bills, even though this keeps other patients in need of intensive care out of hospitals because of bed shortages.

The present health-care system "almost begs for poor management," said a recent report by the Senate Finance Committee. "Unlike most areas in the private economy, no incentives exist to produce or supply a given health service at the most economic price consistent with the quality of care."

The committee estimated that at the present rate of expenditures, the hospitalization tab to be picked up by Medicare would reach a staggering $216 billion over the next 25 years.

Yet for all these billions, without radical and rational new approaches to medical care, two and a half decades from now—let alone 1976—the nation could be no closer to achieving the goal of quality medical care for all Americans than it is today.

Ease Pressure For Desegregation Issue Ruling

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has decided against pressing for a Supreme Court ruling on the legality of segregated schools resulting from housing patterns, the Justice Department's top civil rights lawyer says.

The reason, Jerris Leonard said Monday, is the administration has no solutions to offer should the high court strike down unofficial—or de facto—segregation as unconstitutional. Leonard thus made clear what President Nixon had implied in his recent statement on school segregation in which he said the administration would avoid "provoking the courts into extreme decision."

The Supreme Court has not ruled that "racial isolation by itself requires a constitutional remedy, even where that racial isolation may be brought about by official action or inaction," Leonard told newsmen.

The high court has held unconstitutional the official—or de jure—type of segregation existing in the South but has not spoken on the question of whether the Constitution requires widespread busing to achieve racial balance in neighborhood schools.

Leonard also said statewide desegregation suits once contemplated against Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Mississippi and South Carolina may not need to be filed since, he said, voluntary compliance is coming along.

Three weeks ago, Leonard said the administration would "watch very closely" voluntary compliance efforts in the weeks ahead. "If nothing happens to end the dual school systems we are kind of bound to proceed with the state suits," he said at the time.

But Leonard said Monday he saw progress in ending the dual school system.

Leonard disclosed the administration's position on de facto segregation in response to a question. "We would best have a solution" if such a request to the Supreme Court were made, he said, adding that neither he nor his colleagues do.

"If the law were to require an elimination of de facto segregation in schools, then we would be busing children from, say, Harlem, to who knows where," he said.

Leonard contended the federal government has no law on which to justify pursuing alternative paths to desegregation created by housing patterns.

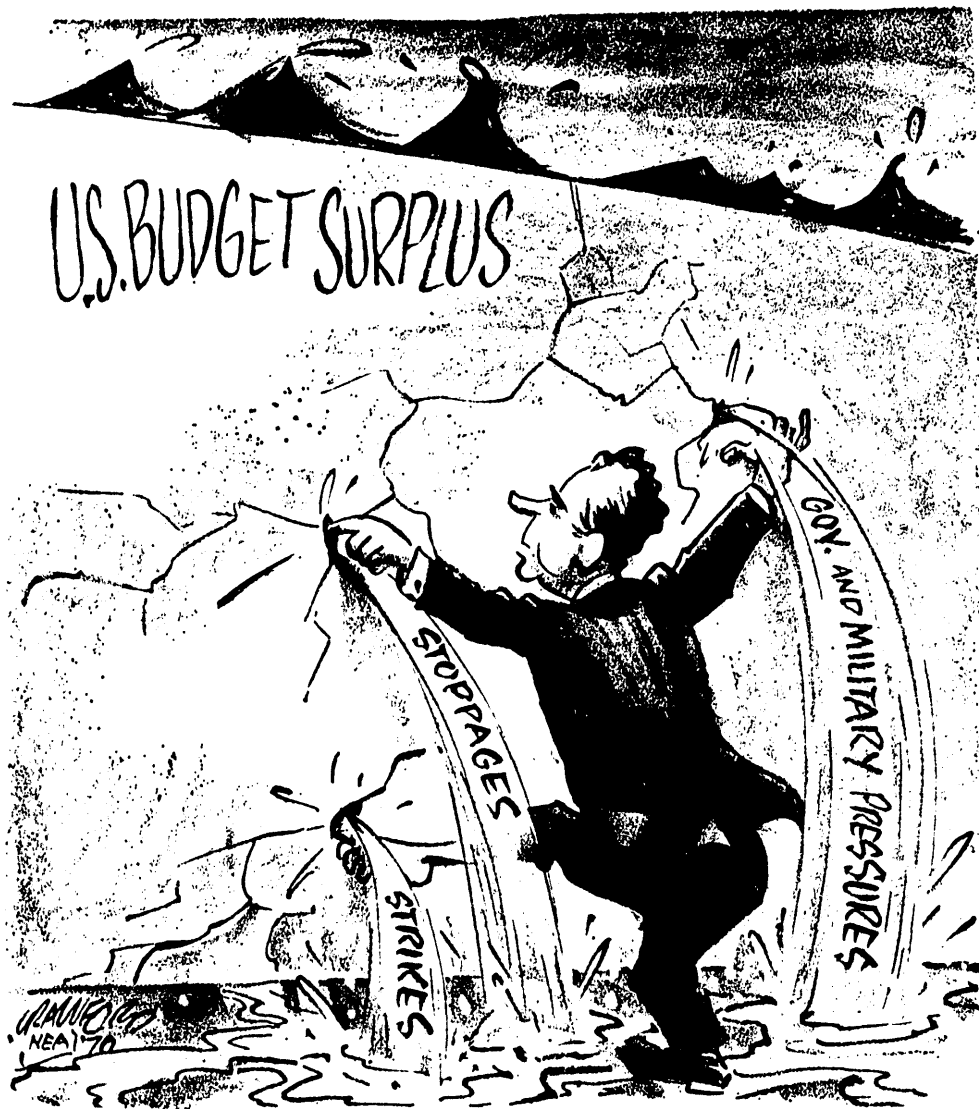

He said the administration will pursue the neighborhood school concept in the South, patterning it after neighborhood schools in the North.

But he said it is true the trend in the North is toward increasing segregation as whites desert the inner cities for the suburbs.

Leonard stoutly defended the administration's school desegregation efforts, saying he saw no difference between the civil rights policies of the administrations of former President Lyndon B. Johnson and Nixon's.

Asked why he thought Nixon has been criticized for slowing down the pace of desegregation, Leonard said "because for a certain amount of money you can buy a newspaper and say what you want."

Blacks Feel While Leftists Use Them

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The other day this reporter talked to a Negro who works with activist blacks.

She is a well-trained psychiatrist. Her job is to understand what is going on and to analyze her findings.

The subject of our conversation was simple. She was certain the black activists, at least those she works with, have lost faith in white activists.

The blacks, she said, believe firmly their white counterparts are out to use them. The white radicals are after some objectives and find the blacks useful. Negroes are put in the first line and get the raps. At least this is what they believe. Make no mistake about it.

Some time back this reporter talked with a representative of one of the larger national student groups. We were discussing why the black students who had been members of that association split off from the whites and set up their own federation.

The blacks told me, this representative said, that what the white students were doing was not relevant to their black problems.

They saw nothing to gain by working with the whites. This wasn't said out of anger, the young man reported. They just couldn't see a pay-off.

There is no objective national survey on how effective the radical left is these days. But there is increasing evidence a large number of those people the left activists are trying to reach do not think the message is relevant.

The reaction of some blacks has been noted in the paragraphs above. But the same story can be told elsewhere.

This past summer, members of the Students for a Democratic Society and a mixed group of other activist students attempted to infiltrate the ranks of blue collar workers in selected cities throughout the country. Even at this late date, the returns are fragmentary. But what results are known indicate that in most places the students weren't able to talk in terms the workingman felt any part of. It wasn't only the language. The students were talking about concepts that made no sense to the men and women they were talking to. It was theory—and the workingmen this reporter knows believed it was theory not based on anything real. It wasn't relevant.

The successful leftist movement of Asia began on different grounds. The early successes of the Viet Cong came about because their cadre would walk barefooted in "pajamas" into a village, squat by the side of the road and talk to farmers in a language the farmers used and about problems that farmers talked about.

The early failures of Saigon came about because the Saigon cadre moved out into the provinces wearing white shirts and shiny, pointed black shoes talking a different "language."

The VC agents worked in the farmers' world. The Saigon men lived in a different world and the farmers felt no empathy.

Thus far the activist students have not learned, it appears, to live in the world of the factory worker, the farmer, the businessman or the Negro.

Warns Normal Ear Cleans Itself

Dear Ann Landers: Since you are read and quoted by millions of people will you please say something to the thousands of ignorant fools who are wrecking their ears? As an otologist's nurse I can vouch for that old saying, "nothing smaller than the elbow should go into ears"—but hardly anyone listens. People insist on "cleaning" their ears with cotton swabs, hairpins, keys, pencils, pens, wires, etc., etc. As a result we get several calls a day from people who are suffering the tortures of the damned. The doctor gives them a lecture and prescribes medication but they keep coming back time after time for the same old thing. The most pathetic cases are infants who are brought in for treatment. Cotton swabs not only pack the ear wax tighter and clog the canal but carelessly used, they can scratch the fine lining of the canal and start infections.

Infections can lead to chronic draining and a loss of hearing. Please tell your readers that the normal ear cleans itself and does not require anyone digging in it. If, by chance, the ears do not secrete their own wax and debris, they should be cleaned by a doctor, not an amateur.

You do a lot of good in this world, Ann. Do a little more and print this—Office Nurse.

Dear Nurse: Here 'tis and I hope somebody listens.

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago I decided on the spur of the moment to have my fortune told. The fortune teller was a woman who worked with a deck of cards.

The very first thing she said was, "I see something very bad here. Your husband is going to die young. He will not live to raise his small children."

I felt as if someone had hit me in the head with a brick. She asked me if I wanted to know more and I said, "No—that's enough." I staggered out of the tent and had to sit down on a bench for ten minutes before I could go on home.

I've talked to several people about this and they all say, "Forget it!" But I can't erase that horrible experience from my mind. It haunts me night and day.

When my husband complains of a slight headache, I'm sure he has the beginning of a brain tumor. If he has a little stomach upset, I'm certain he is having a heart attack. If he is ten minutes late for dinner, I imagine he has been killed in a car accident.

Please give me some help. How can I free myself from this prison of fear?—Alice

Dear Alice: That "fortune teller" did a cruel piece of mischief. She must be a sadist, as well as a charlatan. I suggest professional help. You need to talk out this obsession until you are free of it.

Confidential to Mystery Unsolved: What mystery? Your children are self-centered, lazy and irresponsible because you (in your own words) "tried so hard to make life easy and pleasant for them." Kids need a challenge and a sense of achievement. There is no pride and no satisfaction in having things handed to you.

$100,000 BOND CUT FOR KANE DEFENDANT

JERSEYVILLE — Stewart B. Hungeat of Route 1, Kane, charged with attempt to commit murder, appeared Tuesday with his attorney in the circuit court of Jersey county before Judge McCrackin and petitioned for a reduction of his bond, formerly set at $100,000.

The petition was granted and bond reduced to $25,000 and Hungeat was later released to appear May 4 for hearing.

Hungeat was held following an incident Friday evening in which Dan Carrico received a face wound from a pistol. The argument involved the "peppering" of dogs claimed to be bothering stock and shot at by a shotgun blast.

The United States uses about three-quarters of all the cultured pearls produced in the world.

Universities To Honor Many J.H.S. Graduates

Seventeen graduates of Jacksonville high school are listed on the program for the 46th annual Honors Day convocation to be held Friday, May 1, at 1:30 in the University of Illinois assembly hall.

On this occasion the University gives public recognition to those full time students who have been on the Semester Dean's List for all semesters since last Convocation Day.

Freshmen are considered if they are on the Dean's List of their college during the first semester enrolled. This distinction will be recorded on their permanent University record and their names will appear in the Honors Day Book. Radio station WILL (580) will broadcast the program.

The names of Jacksonville high graduates and their parents and addresses are:

Michael McAdams, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McAdams, 511 South Church.

Carolyn Matthew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Matthew, 7 Westgate Circle.

Gerald Wayne Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen, 135 Pine.

Gerald Wayne Western, son of Mr. and Mrs. Holmer Western, 639 North East street.

Sharon Renee Fearneyhough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Fearneyhough, 16 Book Lane.

Carol Kant and Pat Matthen, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Hans Kant, 400 Park street.

Thomas Lindstromberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Lindstromberg, Jacksonville R.R.5.

Brim In News Of IEA Meet

Friday evening, April 17, the public relations committee for South Central Division I.E.A. met at the Holiday Inn East, Springfield, for a planning session for 1970-71. The committee decided to publish three issues of the South Central News next year with at least two short News Flashes. The May 70 issue will explain unification of dues and the I.E.A. Con-Con.

Saturday morning, April 18, the South Central I.E.A. Delegate Assembly was called to order by president Glenn Frame. The South Central Delegate Assembly voted to have a regional I.E.A. representative and office. The county sections met, at which Robert Brand was elected to represent Morgan county as delegate at the 1970 N.E.A. Convention in San Francisco next summer. Paul Rust was selected as alternate.

After a fine noon luncheon, the full assembly met again at which time the following officers were elected: President elect, Kent Siders, Sangamon county; treasurer, Don Schwalbe, Macon county; membership chairman, Dean Brent, Sangamon county; and three year director, Bill Cogan, Macon county.

A Constitution Convention for more efficiently organizing the Illinois Education Association will be held this summer. From Morgan county, Bob Brand will be delegate with Jim Brim as reserve.

The South Central Division was the 14th division to ratify state I.E.A. dues unification, which means that in 1970-71, a member will have to belong to his local organization and the National Education association. This move was simply routine as enough divisions had ratified the move previously to bring unification to the state. Unification should present a more united front for education in the future.

Joe Pasteras spoke on Unification and outlined several points in its favor. It was announced that the South Central Division will have their own representative and office by September, 1970.

MRS. OMUNDSON WINS POLLY DOLLAR

A suggestion submitted by Mrs. Irene Omundson of 800 South Main street was selected for inclusion in today's "Polly's Pointers" column.

Mrs. Omundson, who has had trouble with buttons coming off children's coats and jackets, solves the problem with glue. She covers the threads that hold the button with glue. When the glue dries, the threads are hard and are unlikely to wear through or be cut.

For her suggestion, Mrs. Omundson will receive a new Polly dollar, a proof of the column and a note from Polly Cramer, who writes the popular column.

Interment will be in Pleasant Plains cemetery with graveside rites at 2:30 p.m. The family will meet friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

The deceased was born in Monticello, Ky., June 13, 1899, the son of Joseph and Mary Smith. He first married Verda Denny, who preceded in death Jan. 28, 1958. He then married Amy Scheferkort, who survives.

Children surviving are Mrs. Ova Mildred Carter of Columbus, Ind.; Rev. Wendell Smith of Springfield; Sherrell Smith of Auburn; Mrs. Christine Churchill of Roodhouse; Mrs. Edith Hamm, Mrs. Dorothy Morris, Mrs. Betty Lu Elmore, all of Pekin; and Darlene Virginia Smith at home. There are 30 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

He also leaves three stepchildren: Ricky Motley, Victoria

Scheferkort and Charlotte Scheferkort, all at home.

Brothers and sisters remaining are Roosevelt Smith of Petersburg, Laude Smith of Pleasant Plains, Mrs. Elhel Alexander of Pleasant Plains and Miss Nellie Smith of Kankakee.

One brother and two sisters preceded in death.

LEG FRACTURED WHEN ELEVATOR IN STORE FALLS

JERSEYVILLE — Mrs. Dan Edwards, wife of the owner of Western Auto Associate Store in Jerseyville, sustained a broken leg Friday evening when the elevator at the store fell down its shaft.

This is the second time within a year that Mrs. Edwards suffered a similar accident when the elevator fell. No other such accidents have occurred on the elevator.

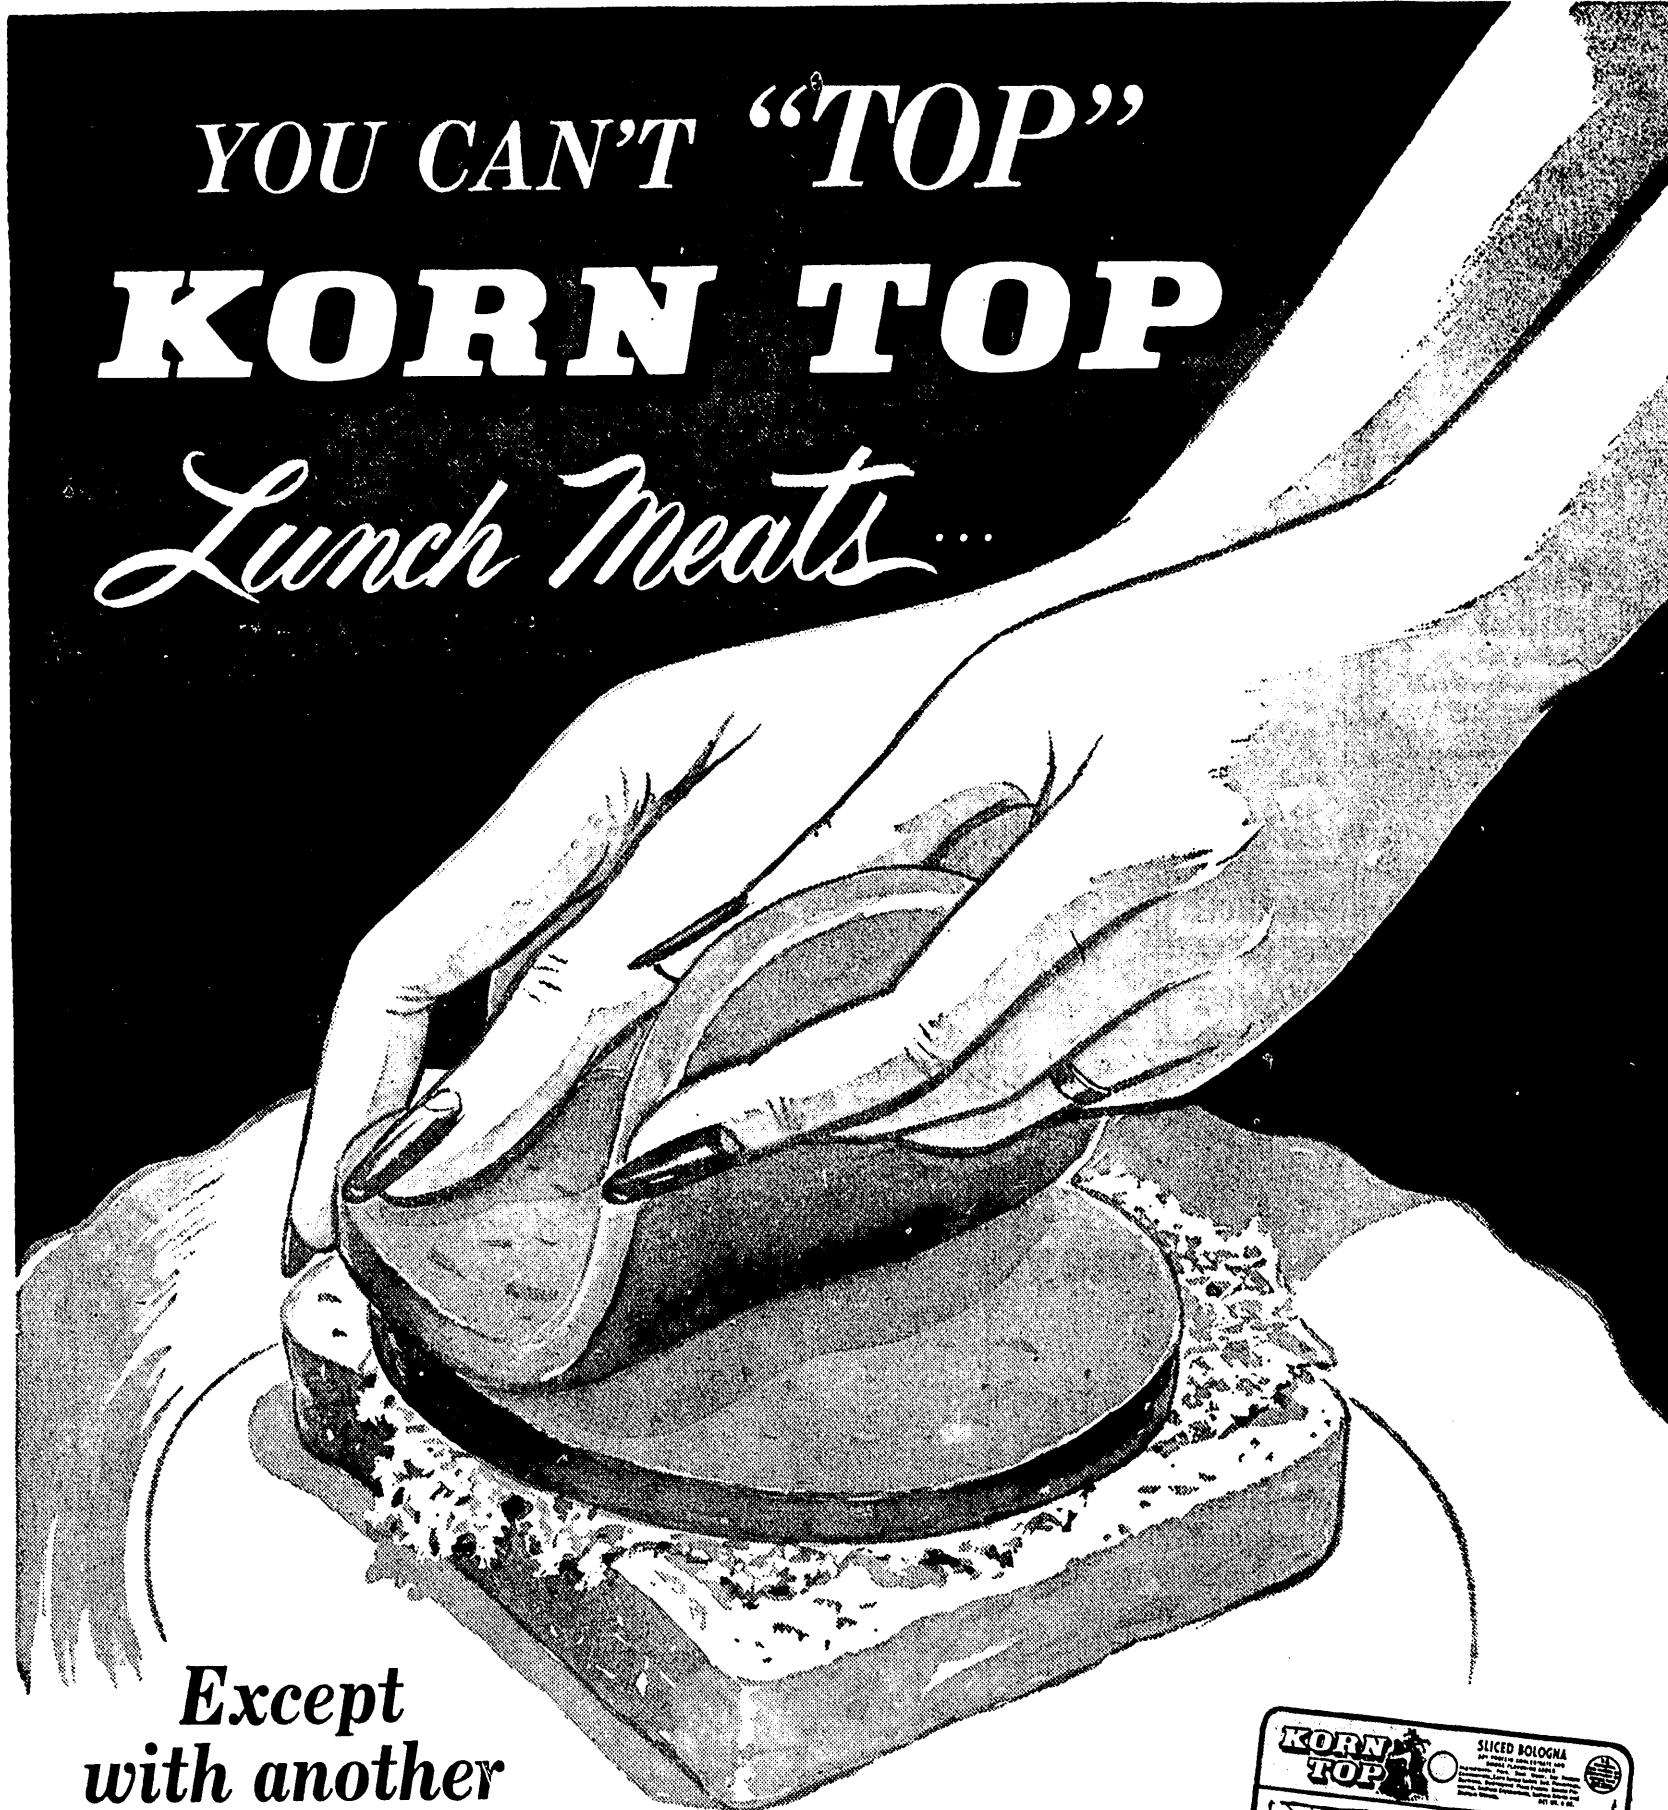

The electric powered freight elevator, operated by a switch tripped with a rope, has been dismantled twice in an effort to determine the cause of the accidents; but repairmen have been unable to find what causes the drop. Mrs. Edwards was taken to the Jersey Community hospital for treatment.

Criticism Irks Bachelors

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a bachelor gets tired of hearing:

"What's the matter with you, Alvin, are you afraid of women?"

"How about borrowing your pad tomorrow night, old pal? An old girl friend of mine blew into town and I'd like a quiet place where we could just sit and talk quietly together alone."

"Well, if the worst comes to the worst, we can ask Alvin. He's always available."

"You'll like this girl, Alvin. She's a real swinger—plays the harp and everything."

"Our regular baby sitter is tied up this evening, Alvin. Can't you come over and take her place just this once? It's a real emergency—honest."

"Oh, yes, he can sew on buttons and everything."

"Boy, I bet if your apartment could speak, it could tell a lot of things, Alvin, you dog, you!"

"It must be lonely for you coming home every night to an empty apartment. After all, you can't put your arms around a television set."

"I hear Alvin lost his girl in kindergarten to a better man."

and has been sour on the ladies ever since."

"Me jealous of Alvin, Jan? That's a laugh. I'd sooner be jealous of a coatrack."

"You'll really go for this girl, Alvin. She got a degree in Greek from Radcliffe and likes to go bike riding in Greenwich Village after midnight."

"It isn't so much fun being single when you have to pay your income tax, is it, Alvin?"

"Often a best man, never the bridegroom."

"You may be having the time of your life now, young man, but have you ever given thought to what it will be like when you're old and gray and have no one to take care of you?"

"It's nice having you as an escort, Alvin. A woman feels so safe with you."

"You'll be simply mad about this girl, Alvin. She has a fine mind, can dance up a windstorm, and has practically completely whipped her drinking problem."

"What makes Alvin think he'd be such a catch? I wouldn't marry him if I could get him free by sending away a box top."

"Did you see in the papers, Alvin, that bachelors don't live as long as either married men or widowers?"

"About the only worthwhile thing you can say about Alvin is that he is certainly doing his bit to keep down the population explosion."

"You'll go absolutely ga-ga about this girl, Alvin. She's a bit bowlegged, I'll admit, but all her family are. They get that way carrying their loot to the bank."

Brown Sugar, Molasses Give Muffins Good Flavor

AP Food Editor
Brown sugar and molasses help to give these muffins good flavor.

Frankfurters Baked Beans
Oatmeal Raisin Muffins
Cole Slaw
Beverage

OATMEAL RAISIN MUFFINS
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup quick-cooking oats
2 tablespoons firmly packed dark brown sugar
1/2 cup raisins
1 cup molasses

1 large egg, slightly beaten
3 tablespoons salad (not olive) oil
1 cup milk

Into a medium mixing bowl sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Stir in oats, brown sugar and raisins. Add molasses, egg, oil and milk; stir only until dry ingredients are moistened. Batter will be very thin. Fill greased medium muffin-pan cups 3/4 full. Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold. Makes two dozen muffins.

peace. "Politics?" He thinks the President does the best he can. He disagrees with some things that happen, but he feels that in all, the nation is good deal better off than any of the globe's other peoples.

People? O.K., he says, so there's George Wallace. But for every one of him there is at least one Martin Luther King or Jackie Robinson.

Cause? Extremists, he says, are the really handicapped in a fight with battles. He has no sympathy for the Black Power there. If someone does him wrong, he thinks it can be better resolved in some other way than big sticks and air mounts.

It might be argued that Willie Jeanette is out of touch with reality. If so, Willie pleads guilty with cause.

Because, he and hundreds of thousands of other people, who live in a world in which fact, not just fiction, insists on one can survive alone. Where everyone is a member of the minority. And where the lesson of survival is optimism and the second lesson is brotherhood.

So, Willie wonders, how are the really handicapped in the present society? Those who hear and say nothing—or those who hear and say only grief? "Even if someone did care the nigger," he smiles and waggles his hands, "I wouldn't know it anyway."

By TOM TIEDE

NEW YORK (NEA) — Once every month William Jeanette buttons into his best suit, walks over to the Domino Social Club, selects one of the idle girls — and pounds the dance floor with versions of the Frug, the Monkey or the Boogaloo.

It's an absolute education to witness.

Why? For one reason, Willie Jeanette, age 31, is a deaf-mute. The Domino Club is composed of people who can't hear or speak, who dance by "listening" to music vibrations through the soles of their feet.

For another reason, Willie is the only Negro member of the club; the girls he dances with must be either white or Puerto Rican.

Prejudice? Not much among the deaf and dumb.

No saints, these folks. But most of them simply can't afford any further narrowing of their lives by bigotry.

As one of the members of Willie's group explains on forced speech: "None of us look at each other as Jews, Negroes or Catholics or that. We only know we talk the same, with our hands, and we hear the same, by reading lips. We're all in the same boat. Color don't make no difference."

Willie himself admits that he "I don't hate anybody. I get mad at some people some times, but not because they're white. I'm happy to be black, but I don't think about it much. I only want to have a touch-two fingers together) may be deaf and dumb for life, married — a 29-year-old girl named Monsarret who is Puerto Rican and who is also for the deaf and dumb.

Times being what they are, Willie Jeanette's temper and outlook are refreshing. They are also somewhat surprising. For, given his history, it's a wonder he isn't out raging with everybody else.

Willie was born to hard times in North Carolina. Little more than a shack for a home. A few scraped dollars for income. Fatback and thin grits.

When he was two years old, his parents were told he'd be deaf and dumb for life.

His father walked out on the family, leaving them penniless, never to come back.

The mother and boy then migrated north to New York, where Willie grew up poor, deaf, speechless and black. He got odd jobs to help the family finances. He absorbed himself in sports for pastime. He attended and graduated from a New York school for the deaf. He got a steady ($130 a week) job in the bakery of the Chock Full O' Nuts chain. And he

Today, Willie lives with his wife in a comfortable, nicely furnished apartment in the Bronx. He watches television drives his own car, goes occasionally to the movies, dances at the Domino Club and, at almost every way lives a quite normal and happy existence.

While society around him seethes with bitterness and frustration, Willie says he is a

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Avoid Hemochromatosis By Limiting Iron Intake

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Some persons who complain of dizziness, headache, loss of weight, shortness of breath and easy fatigability suffer from iron overloading or hemochromatosis. In victims of this disease, increased amounts of iron are absorbed from the digestive tract and deposited in the tissues. The disease is seen more often in men than in women and usually has its onset between the ages of 40 and 60.

Heredity appears to be a factor in some cases but in others the cause is a high intake of iron, especially in persons who drink large quantities of imported wine or who are subjected to certain iron tonics without a physician's advice. The daily dietary requirement for iron is 10 to 20 milligrams.

As the disease progresses, iron deposits give the skin a coppery hue and there is an associated diabetes, sometimes called bronze diabetes.

Fortunately, this overloading disease can now be controlled by periodic bleeding and by giving such prescription drugs as diethylene triamine pentaacetic acid (DTPA) or deferoxamine (Desferal). These drugs form an insoluble iron compound in the digestive tract and allow the iron to pass out of the system without being absorbed into the blood.

Q—What is the best treatment for a torn cartilage in the rib cage? Ultrasound treatments and an injection of cortisone didn't help.

A—This injury is notoriously slow to heal more so than a fracture. Immobilization of the chest in a cast or by tight bandaging for 11 or 12 weeks is a wearisome business but it sometimes relieves the pain while the tear heals.

Q—I have taken Prolixin for five years. Does this drug affect the neck or eyes?

A—This tranquilizer should not be taken by anyone who is subject to convulsions or has a liver disease. Its side effects include uncontrollable circular movements of the eyes and arching backward of the neck.

Q—What is the best way to get rid of chapped lips?

A—Apply a thin layer of cream or petroleum jelly two or three times a day and avoid licking or biting your lips.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

LEE MUELLER Of Black Toenails And Skinned Knees

By LEE MUELLER

AFLOAT IN THE CARIBBEAN (NEA)

Dear Pop:

Here I am, flopped out on the deck of a boat in the Caribbean like some fat, white-bellied fish. It's nearly noon and we've anchored in the bay outside Bequia, lounging, lazy, like sitting on a footlog back home and letting the water tickle your bare feet.

The ship's captain, Marsh Gabriel, says lots of fellows like me come down here to vacation and never go home again. Everything's so warm and slow and soft. It's like lying on a pillow. (Would you hate me if you had to hoe out the watermelons by yourself?)

Gabriel ran away, Pop. He won't say so, but I'm sure he did. He was an editor for 14 years before he discovered the pillow. Now he is brown, like a coconut. He walks around all day in a pair of white tennis shorts. No shoes. He has the black toenails of a man who has gone barefoot for a long time. His hair is thin and blond and his front teeth are mostly gold. Splashes of Mercuriochrome cover the skinned places men suffer on boats.

Marsh Gabriel is smooth, yet jagged, like an unmanicured fingernail. The jokes he tells come out with an easy, predictable flutter.

"When we approach the island, we'll need someone to stand up in the bow—to see if the natives are friendly."

The assembled laugh at that, Pop, because this man stands there, his Mercuriochrome knee propped upon a bench to expose black toenails, at peace with himself and them.

Statistics show that more men are running away from the rigors of civilized life than ever before. Last year, some 110,000 men unexplainably quit their jobs, left their families and went off someplace to contemplate.

Do you know what they contemplate, Pop? I know what I contemplate. I look at the men who work aboard the ships—some young, some almost old, all lean and hard and healthy and smiling. I look at myself, age 28, already billowing like a doughnut; already tired and wondering.

Would I be happy, do you think, picking bananas for the rest of my life? Or, maybe, swabbing decks or unfurling sails? You won't believe this, but now it's difficult to answer. The pillow here is called the Flying Cloud, a three-masted schooner that belongs to Windjammer Cruises and anyone else who can shell out enough money for an 11-day voyage—plus another bundle for Air France or somebody to fly you here.

"Is it worth it?" you ask. It's worth it.

We've been out two days now. Last night I steered the ship for an hour during a storm. I was Ahab, Hornblower and Captain Crunch all rolled into one. . . . Avast, ya swabs. . . . Batten down da hubcaps. . . .

All I had to do was hold the ship on course to avoid hitting St. Vincent, a very large island. I nearly didn't. It was, however, a wonderful, delicious struggle, spinning the big wagon wheel left (port) and then right (starboard) just in time to spin left again.

This morning I went snorkeling for the first time. The Caribbean, as you know, is very clear and blue; and if a man can learn to breathe properly through a snorkel, it is a wonderful thing to look into. I swallowed enough sea water to keep Moby Dick alive for six months in Kansas.

Some of the Windward Islands are clean and strange, full of poison berries and sea urchins and little boys who swim naked on public beaches. Other places are dirty and familiar. On Martinique, in the village of Petite Anse D'Ariet, I saw two geese honking at each other in a dusty garden and wondered whether these geese could communicate with our geese at home. I think it unlikely since I've tried my French here and nobody understands it.

I guess I'll come home, after all. A hillbilly goose has no business messing around with a French West Indies goose anyway.

Yours truly . . .

There are many good plays available to every bridge player. You may not understand three-suit squeezes, Deschapeles coups and the like; but if you ever play bridge at all, you will understand what a finesse is.

You don't need to take finessses but they bring in a lot of tricks as the years slide by. However, there is one kind of finesse to avoid. We call this play the practice finesse because it is a finesse that may cost you a trick and can't do you the least bit of good.

Steve Brody was the first man to jump off the Brooklyn Bridge and live. He took a chance. Don't be a Steve Brody at the bridge table.

If South is in a finessing mood, he can play dummy's ten of spades at trick one. The finesse will work but its success won't help South. In fact it will cost him his contract. The best he can do after that successful finesse will be to gather in three spades, two hearts, two diamonds and one club, provided West is unkind enough to refuse to win the first club trick.

South will wind up with a lot of good clubs in his own hand with no way to reach them.

Now see what happens if South goes right up with dummy's ace of spades. He will lead a club at trick two and continue with clubs until West takes his ace. West will probably shift to a heart. South will win in dummy and lead a spade to his queen-jack.

West can take his king of spades but South will wind up with four clubs and two tricks in each other suit for a nice total of ten.

What do you do now?

A—Bid three no-trump. You aren't happy with this bid but it is the best at your disposal. Some rain must fall into each life.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do bid three no-trump and your partner goes to four spades. What do you do now?

Mrs. Minnie Fox Of Chandlerville Honored At 81

CHANDLERVILLE — Mrs. Minnie Fox was honored on her 81st birthday Saturday afternoon when relatives and neighbors gathered at her home to help her celebrate.

Enjoying the afternoon were Mrs. Lowell Sarff, Mrs. Howard Richards, Mrs. Hubert Johnson, Mrs. Harold Eilers, Mrs. Jack Richards, Mrs. Henry Richards, Misses Paye and Sherry Richards, Mrs. Nell Gebhard and Mrs. Eva Kirchner. Also several great nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Fox received many lovely and useful gifts. Refreshments were served to those present.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kirchner were callers in the evening.

NO WALLS surround him. Meet Ken Lemming, who has an "air-conditioned" office for real. Lemming, who is an air cargo carrier agent serving Nassau and 700 Bahama islands, has a mobile field office which allows him to supervise loading and unloading and to expedite quick turnaround flights. He even has installed a beach umbrella to shade him from the Bahamas sun.

Loran Artholony left Tuesday morning for a few days visit in Pecatonica to visit Ora Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sarff and son.

Weekend Visitors
Miss Jeanne Hogg of Virginia spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Blair. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bottens and family of Pekin were weekend visitors of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenton Bottens and Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Siltman and family of Roseville were Saturday visitors of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Siltman and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cook, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bruno of Springfield were weekend visitors of her mother, Mrs. Euna Lynn.

Miss Ada Jo Hudson of Bloomington spent the weekend here with relatives and friends.

Polly's Pointers

Good Storage Cabinet Made From Old Freezer

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Evelyn can convert her chest-type freezer to a storage chest by removing the cord and motor, draining out any liquid, then wiping it out several times until completely dry. Add a block of air freshener for a nice, clean smell.—DONNA

Dear Polly — I want to tell Evelyn that I have been using our old chest-type freezer for year-round storage for the past three years. It works great. Mine has baskets that fit on the shelves which I use for storing gloves, wool socks and other small items. I placed a moth proof cake in the center near the top. When kept closed, the chest is bug-mouse-dust- and moisture-proof. I find it keeps both summer and winter items safely and in a very accessible place. An upright freezer should work equally well. Clothing and blankets could be stored on the shelves or they could be removed and a spring-type rod placed across the top to hold clothing on hangers. Love that column. Keep up the good work. — LOUISE

DEAR GIRLS — If there are small children around the house, do be careful that there is no danger of their getting into a partially filled upright freezer where they might lock themselves in.—POLLY

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—I recently bought a set of beautiful candles and one was broken. Does anyone know how to mend a candle?—CAROL

DEAR POLLY—I wonder if other mothers have as much trouble as I do with buttons coming off children's coats and jackets, especially the kind that do not have holes in them but a metal shank on the back. I solved the problem by squeezing out a bit of all-purpose glue, sticking a toothpick in it and then covering the thread that holds the button with the glue. When the glue dries, the thread is hard and, consequently, is quite unlikely to wear through or be cut by the steel shank.—IRENE

South Viet Troops Surge Into Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of South Vietnamese troops, allied with American advisers and air support, thrust into Cambodia Wednesday, smashing North Vietnamese camps on said 300 of them were slain by an offensive that marked a dramatic change in White House policy.

House Group Asks Pay TV Restraints

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Commerce Committee approved Wednesday stringent regulations which, if enacted, could throw a roadblock into a system of pay television.

The vote was 17-10. Included in the proposal are a complete ban on commercial advertising, a stretchout on the freeze of showing certain sports programs and a sharp reduction in the combination of feature films and sports that could be shown. The latter combination is considered the backbone of pay TV.

The Federal Communications Commission's plan for telecasting programs which could be received only in homes paying a fee was approved by the agency in December 1968. It was upheld by the U.S. Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court in late February declined to review that ruling.

But the committee's regulations would be more restrictive than those proposed by the FCC. The panel's action came in approving a substitute proposal by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., who originally proposed a flat ban by law on the FCC authorizing anyone to engage in the broadcasting of pay TV.

Dingell's new package would permit pay TV, but under the specific guidelines it proposes.

Arnett reported that it appeared the allied force was trying to push North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops down into a vise in the Parrot's Beak, so known because of its appearance on the map.

An estimated 15,000 enemy soldiers were reported operating in the Parrot's Beak sector. An American paratrooper adviser said he was in no position to give out any information.

When told that Washington and Saigon announced the operation he said, "It doesn't matter what they say there. It's what these people here want to say that counts. And they don't want to say anything." He referred to U.S. and South Vietnamese officers in the field.

In a brief communique that gave virtually no details, the U.S. Command said advisers and air, artillery, logistics and medical support were being provided to South Vietnamese forces in Cambodia at the request of the Saigon government. U.S. Command spokesmen said no American ground troops were involved in the action.

South Vietnamese headquarters said the operation began at 8 A.M. Wednesday in a drive into the Parrot's Beak section of Cambodia, 34 miles northwest of Saigon.

Spokesmen said more than 5,000 South Vietnamese infantry and ranger troops, and more than 100 armored personnel carriers along with air and artillery strikes, smashed 160 North Vietnamese storage huts and 350 bunkers.

Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett reported from the field that the operation was launched from Tay Ninh City, but that the division-sized headquarters was later at Go Dau, six miles from the Parrot's Beak.

Ollie Proffitt Dies Tuesday; Funeral Friday

Mrs. Ollie Rose Proffitt, 82, who lived for many years at 1605 Mound, died at 9:45 p.m. Tuesday at Norris hospital, where she had been a patient since Feb. 12. More recently, Mrs. Proffitt resided with a daughter, Mrs. Dona Rash, at 805 North Main street.

The longtime resident of the city was born Sept. 12, 1887, at Tompkinsville, Kentucky, daughter of William and Frances Belcher. She married George E. Proffitt Jan. 17, 1904, and he died Jan. 17, 1948.

Surviving are four children: Mrs. Mae Dawson, Mrs. Velma Switzer, Mrs. Dona Rash and Ernest Proffitt, all of Jacksonville. There are 12 grandchildren, 43 great grandchildren and three great great grandchildren.

Four children preceded their mother in death—Carlos, Huston, Lee and Leona—as did four brothers and sisters.

The deceased was a member of Centenary United Methodist church, past president of the Woman's Relief Corps and charter member of American War Dads Auxiliary Chapter 28.

The remains were taken to Gillham - Buchanan Funeral Home, where the family will meet friends 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the funeral home with Rev. William J. Boston officiating. Interment will be in Memorial Lawn cemetery.

Artie Hill, Cousin Of Mrs. Sexton, Dies

Artie Mae Hill, 84, who had lived with her cousin, Mrs. Ethel Sexton, 1611 South Main, for the past 30 years, died at Norris hospital Wednesday evening.

She was born in Arkansas on February 18, 1886. She married Will Hill who preceded her in death.

The body was taken to Williamson Funeral Home and early Thursday morning will be taken to Higgenbottom Funeral Home at Walnut Ridge, Arkansas, where funeral services will be held. Burial will be in Ravenden Springs, Arkansas.

Moses E. Perry, Former Resident, Dies In West

Word has been received by Olga Perry, 301 W. Beecher, of the death Wednesday of her brother, Moses E. Perry, 75, of Murietta, California. Mr. Perry died in a Riverside, California, hospital after an extended illness.

He was the son of Harry E. and Sarah Perry. Arrangements will be announced later.

Linemen Unhappy

The mayor has been quoted as saying that the utility committee decided not to return the money to the employees, although no such topic has yet been presented on the open council floor.

Trying To Reach Aldermen Christa said his group is simply trying to present their side of the safety problem before the full city council so that some action could be forthcoming to correct the problem immediately.

Christa said the "sick-out" was prompted by a safety problem on the morning of the initial incident. He said Supt. Robert Jameson was called to inspect the problem but "all he did was harass us."

The grievance was filed Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Jameson has three days upon which to consider and act on the grievance. It will then go to the mayor.

Harry Reed, Of Virginia, Dies Wednesday

VIRGINIA — Harry C. Reed, of Virginia, died at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday at Walker Nursing Home in Virginia.

He was born in Cass County on March 17, 1886, son of William and Margaret Roady Reed. Surviving are a brother, Frank of Freeport, and two nephews, Franklin Reed of Ashland and Donald Reed of Pleasant Plains.

Visitation will be 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday at Massey Funeral Home.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the funeral home with Rev. Audy Burklow officiating. Interment will be in Ashland City cemetery.

Two Drivers Face Charges After Chase

Charges were placed against two young drivers as a result of incidents late Tuesday night involving two cars fleeing from Jacksonville police.

Police reported shortly before 11 p.m. they were pursuing two cars over several blocks in the northeast part of the city. Reportedly, the cars separated, going in different directions.

Police continued their pursuit of one of the autos, driven by 20-year-old Robert F. Hardwick of Hillview. As Hardwick approached the intersection of West Wolcott, West Railroad and Case avenue, he evidently was not familiar with the slight west, traveling onto the Norfolk and Western railroad tracks, and struck a box car parked on a siding.

Hardwick was charged with attempting to elude a police officer. A passenger, Randall DeSha, also of Hillview, complained of a slight injury but did not seek hospital treatment. Driver of the other car, Gerald Tribble of 728 North East, was spotted as he drove by the accident scene. He was also arrested for attempting to elude a police officer.

Hardwick and Tribble were both later released after posting $50 cash bail.

KING FUNERAL HELD WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Blanche King were held at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at Williamson Funeral Home with Rev. Dale Robb officiating. Mrs. Ruth Rexroat was the organist. Pallbearers were William Ator, Pat McLain, Charles Ater, Francis Ater, Ted Kershaw and Dave Newby. Interment was in Diamond Grove cemetery.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. William (Grace) Benson of 128 Hardin avenue is a surgical patient in Passavant hospital.

Mrs. Viola Oster of Rushville, formerly of Jacksonville, is a medical patient in Culbertson Memorial hospital in Rushville.

Alert Ohio Guard In Truck Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Gov. James R. Rhodes of Ohio alerted 3,000 National Guard troops Wednesday for possible use as highway patrols to end violence resulting from a wildcat Teamsters strike.

Rhodes was the first high official to step into the trucking industry dispute which has crippled the economy and caused mass layoffs in Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis and Los Angeles.

A Cleveland business group said 50,000 persons have been idled as a result of the 29-day wildcat action. Mayor Carl Stokes of Cleveland and mayors of other northeastern Ohio communities met to discuss the transportation crisis.

In Chicago more than 100,000 layoffs in other industries have occurred since 35,000 drivers began a strike and managements retaliated with lockouts. St. Louis and Los Angeles highway shipping has also been shut down by dissident drivers expressing their dissatisfaction with a tentative national contract providing $1.10 hourly raises over a three-year period.

A Chicago spokesman for the trucking industry said no talks had been scheduled with Teamster leaders. "They have said they are inflexible, what's the use of calling a meeting to hear that?" he said.

Some 700 Teamster local leaders convened in Washington for a Thursday review of the national contract.

Local Hard-Core Unemployed To Be Discussed

The Morgan County League of Women Voters study group on Jacksonville problems of employment for the "hard-core unemployed" will meet Thursday, April 30, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Orville N. Foreman, 1313 Mound avenue.

Special guest, speaker and consultant on the subject will be John Cheeks of Decatur, director of the Springfield office of the Fair Employment Practices Commission. A graduate of Illinois State University at Normal, Mr. Cheeks was for 15 years director of Illinois State Employment Services in Decatur and Peoria. He is active in many community organizations in Decatur, including current terms on the boards of the American Red Cross and a school for mentally retarded children.

Also a guest at the meeting will be Mrs. Dola Robinson, president of the Jacksonville Commission on Human Relations.

Any person interested in employment problems in Jacksonville is invited. Mr. Cheeks will be interviewed on the WJYY-TV program "Questionable Matters" Thursday at 5 p.m.

According to Mrs. Foreman, chairman of the LWV study. League members have been visiting business organizations, government employment services, social agencies dealing with hiring of the disabled, disadvantaged or otherwise difficult to employ, and interested employer and labor groups for the past two years.

"Discussion will center on how to apply what we have learned here in Jacksonville," Mrs. Foreman said.

Kennedy

Denis asked if Kennedy applied his brakes before going off the bridge.

A. Perhaps a fraction of a second before.

Q. Did you realize at that moment that you were not heading for the ferry?

A. At the moment I went off the bridge, I certainly did.

Boyle said Kennedy had been driven along the road and over the bridge twice before on July 18, the day of the accident.

"I believe it probable that Kennedy knew of the hazard that lay ahead of him on Dyke Road but that, for some reason not apparent from the testimony, he failed to exercise due care as he approached the bridge."

"I, therefore, find there is probable cause to believe that Edward M. Kennedy operated his motor vehicle negligently on a way (roadway) or in a place to which the public have a right of access and that such operation appears to have contributed to the death of Mary Jo Kopecne," the judge said.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, April 30, the 120th day of 1970. There are 245 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1789 George Washington was inaugurated as the first President of the United States.

On this date: In 1798, the Navy Department was created by an act of Congress.

In 1803, the Louisiana Purchase was made from France for $15 million.

In 1812, Louisiana was admitted into the Union as the 18th state.

In 1900, engineer Casey Jones was killed in a train wreck at Vaughan, Miss.

In 1915, wireless communication was established between the District of Columbia and the Panama Canal Zone.

In 1939, the New York World's Fair was opened by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In 1945, Moscow announced that the Soviet flag flew over the ruins of the Reichstag in Berlin.

Ten years ago—Troops and police arrested 3,000 student demonstrators in Ankara, Turkey who were protesting martial law and other restrictive measures of Premier Menderes' government.

Five years ago—L. W. Abel was declared the winner of a hotly contested February election for the presidency of the AFL-CIO United Steel Workers of America.

One year ago—Israel and Egypt exchanged tank and artillery fire across the Suez Canal along a 60-mile front from Qantara to Port Taufiq.

Sunday Tourney To Be Held In White Hall

WHITE HALL — The Sandy Creek Association will hold a Speaker's Tournament at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Calvary Baptist church with Myrna Conrod of Ill. Baptist Church Training Dept.

Dianne Burton will participate in the Sword Drill. Mrs. William Wald, State Consultant will preside.

Four groups of the Association will send participants and winners in each event will be chosen to go to the State Finals May 17th. Oak Grove church near White Hall is a member of the Association.

Jaycees Host Regional Members of the White Hall Jaycees were hosts at Uni's Hall on Saturday night to the Regional Orientation meeting conducted by regional officers and special guest Joseph McHugh of Northbrook, Ill., a candidate for State President.

Seventy-five guests from South Central Region were present. The purpose of the meeting was to try to give new members and their wives general knowledge of what the Jaycees organization represents. Door prizes were donated by local merchants and refreshments served by local Jaycee members.

Elect Officers The Greene County Republican club met recently and unanimously elected the following officers for two years: Harold Albrecht, county chairman; Donald Piper, vice chairman; Robert Meldrum, secretary; Martin Helton, treasurer.

Mrs. Janie Bland of Carrollton was reappointed by Chairman Albrecht as county chairwoman. County candidates attended the meeting: Mike Waltrip for County Clerk; Frank Langley, Sheriff; Robert Morrow, Supt. of an Educational Region; and Ray Mayfield, for treasurer.

Business — Market Wrapup

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — There is a widespread belief in Wall Street, as elsewhere, that things can get just so bad before they must begin improving again. But realistically, everyone knows such an attitude is a flight from reality.

Too often the fellow who has a streak of bad luck gets slugged again. And how often is a spell of bad weather followed not by fair skies but by more storms?

The news in the business world is bad. And although harried analysts and hopeful brokers keep saying the turn has to come any day now, they say so for effect rather than from conviction. The bad news piles up. Chrysler lost $29.4 million in the first three months of the year. General Motors' net income fell 33 per cent to $348 million. And Ford earnings dropped 26 per cent to $124.4 million in the first quarter.

The impact of such tremendous declines becomes more evident when you realize that last year these three companies accounted for $40 billion in direct sales.

Moreover, they were the chief customers for billions of dollars worth of glass, tires, fabrics and plastics. And through the use of their products, billions of dollars in oils, gasolines and greases were sold.

There are losses in the air also. Just when the traveling public was convinced it could fly anywhere, The Boeing Company reported an earnings decline and announced a "severe deterioration in the commercial airplane market."

And weren't computers supposed to solve all problems? International Business Machines, the premier blue chip of the 1960s, announced almost at the same time that it expects a difficult year, very likely with lower earnings.

But doesn't IBM make computers? Of course it does, and so does Control Data, which lost $6.6 million on its computer operations in the first three months. Computer company earnings are falling, and so are their stock prices.

Not just computer stocks either. A multitude of glamor stocks, their stage makeup washed, and the dreams out of their beholders' eyes, are seen to be far less attractive than once believed.

High borrowing costs are said to be among the chief causes of the earnings declines. But high borrowing costs, we are told, are coming down. Don't believe it.

Short term interest rates have been rising for a month now. And long term rates seem to continue on a long term upward trend. Continental Airlines this week borrowed $90 million at 10.5 per cent interest.

High interest rates aren't the only things that stubbornly resist the so-called return to economic stability. Some economists are beginning to believe inflation is here to stay.

During the next five years, says Walter Heller, who won fame as chief economic adviser in the Kennedy Administration, the United States will be lucky to average as little as 3 per cent inflation.

The employment picture isn't any better than the rest of the news. Herbert Stein, of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, said further increases in unemployment, now at least 4.4 per cent of the labor force, might be expected.

Mutuals Bring Light To Gloomy Market

By CARLTON SMITH and RICHARD PUTNAM PRATT
If, among all the gloom faces being worn by American investors these days, you spot a few smiles here and there, they may belong to people who have had the courage to entrust some of their money to mutual funds this year. A surprising number of the funds have been performing on the plus side.

With all the popular market averages down from 2 to 5 per cent for the first quarter of 1970, at least 101 mutual funds showed gains—some of them quite respectable. The best showing was a 9.26 per cent increase in share value for the three-month period.

SMITH

The gainers constituted 22 per cent of the 468 funds followed by the Arthur Lipper Corp., an institutional brokerage firm whose computers provide a continuous performance analysis to its mutual-fund clients. Calculations are based on reinvestment of all capital gains and dividends.

A big majority of the gainers — 77 per cent — were, not surprisingly, income or balanced funds, or combination growth-income funds, with at least a part of the assets invested in bonds or other income-producing securities. With bond yields at record highs during the period, you'd think it would be difficult for an income fund to show a loss—though seven of the 43 income funds on the Lipper list somehow managed it.

Only 17 growth funds — the group hardest hit by the 1969-70 market decline — showed up on the list of winners.

As a group, mutual funds have put up a fairly sturdy defense against losses during the long market slide. During the 12-month period that ended March 31, the Dow-Jones Industrial average fell 16.02 per cent. Of the 402 funds in operation the entire 12 months (66 of those now on the Lipper list are less than a year old), two-thirds of them, or 266, showed lighter losses than the Dow-Jones stocks. Only 13 recorded a gain, however.

Measured by a broader market average, the New York Stock Exchange Index, down 12.28 for the 12 months, the funds split almost evenly down the middle, 205 turning in a better record and 197 posting larger losses.

At the bottom of the list were some disastrous performances. The value of shares in one fund dropped more than 51 per cent, and a total of 16 funds saw values decline by a third or more. With no sparkling gainers at the top of the list to offset this, the average for all 402 funds was pulled down a little below the NYSE Index, to a minus 13.88 per cent for the year.

The wide disparity between the top of the list and the bottom, and the dividing line between this year's losers and the 22 per cent that have made money for investors in a very tough market illustrates again the oft-repeated dictum:

There's as much difference between mutual funds as between stocks in the market. You have to be selective to pick the good performers.

There's as much difference between mutual funds as between stocks in the market. You have to be selective to pick the good performers.

There's as much difference between mutual funds as between stocks in the market. You have to be selective to pick the good performers.

There's as much difference between mutual funds as between stocks in the market. You have to be selective to pick the good performers.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market swung sharply higher Wednesday in its best sessions in over a month. Trading was heavy.

The Dow Jones Average of 30 industrials closed up 13.06 at 737.39. This represented the largest single day gain since March 25, when the Dow average jumped 16.37 to 790.13.

During the five previous sessions, the Dow average had lost about 50 points and, on Tuesday, had reached its lowest closing level since President Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, 1963, when the average closed at 711.49.

The New York Stock Exchange's index of some 1,200 common stocks closed Wednesday up 0.90 at 44.98.

The Associated Press 60-stock average ended up 3.6 at 258.5, with industrials up 8.2, rails up 1, and utilities up 3.6.

Advances outnumbered declines by 906 to 487, with 232 stocks remaining unchanged. This is the first time in 20 sessions that advances outnumbered declines.

Volume was 15.80 million, up from Tuesday's volume of 12.62 million. The New York Stock Exchange tape was running three minutes late at the closing bell.

The rally Wednesday represented a recovery from mid-session selling wave that sent the Dow average of 30 industrials some 4 points below Tuesday's close.

Analysts said the decline was a panicky reaction to the announcement that the U.S. was providing advisers and tactical air strikes for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia.

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange included Alcan Aluminum, volume leader off ¼ to 21½; Data Processing, up ¼ to 11½; Telex, up 12 to 104; Burroughs, up 6½ to 131; IBM, up 10 to 300¼; and University Computing, up 4½ to 35½.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange moved upward in the most active trading of the year. The Amex price-change index closed up .28 at 22.03. Volume was 5.67 million shares, heaviest since last Dec. 31, when more than 11 million shares changed hands. Tuesday's volume was 4.63 million.

Fellowship For Virginia Area Church Women

VIRGINIA — Church Women United in the Virginia area will celebrate May Fellowship Day on Friday, May 1, beginning with a noon potluck luncheon in the local United Methodist church Fellowship Hall.

The theme for this year's program is "Dissolve the Distance Between..." The organization, which meets in 10 counties, works to develop new ways of bridging the gap between polarized sectors of our society. A filmstrip entitled "Appalachia Speaks" will be shown. Miss Marie Cirillo, community worker for the Department of Rural Development, Nashville Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church, prepared the material.

Plans are being made for a very interesting afternoon. Local women scheduled to participate in the program are Mrs. George Maurer, Mrs. Edward Finn, Mrs. Elson Martin, Mrs. Herbert Beuoy, Mrs. William Kilby, Mrs. David Finney, Mrs. John Boyd, Mrs. James Drogan, ald Gwin, and Miss Paula Mrs. Allan Landolt, Mrs. Don-Pugh.

All churchwomen in the local area are invited to attend. Each lady attending is asked to bring a covered dish and her own table service.

Two Injured Near Florence

PITTSFIELD — Traffic was tied up for over an hour Tuesday night on Route 54, west of the Illinois River bridge, when a semi-trailer jackknifed at 8:20 p.m. after striking a car.

Both vehicles were east bound with the truck in the passing lane when the driver of the car attempted a left turn and was struck by the truck. The car was pushed for about 60 ft. from point of impact and the truck jackknifed across the road.

Joyce N. Henry, 37, of Louisiana, Mo., driver of the car, was admitted to Illini hospital here. A passenger in her car, Homer L. Easterbrook, was treated for minor injuries and released. The driver of the Trans Continental Line truck suffered minor injuries but refused treatment. Both drivers were arrested. Joyce Henry was ticketed for failure to signal when required and Ramey for improper passing in an intersection.

BRITISH ACTOR MICHAEL CRAWFORD can't make it to the finish line and Athol Compton, the bare-footed Aborigine, is closing fast in Twentieth-Century Fox movie, "The Games."

Hovercraft Showing Air Can Take Place Of Wheels, Tracks And Hulls

By RODNEY PINDER
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Seventeen years after it was invented by a British engineer experimenting with two old coffee cans, the hovercraft—or air cushion vehicle—has developed into a mushrooming multimillion-dollar industry.

Hovercraft, among the most revolutionary advances in transport since the discovery of the wheel, are showing that air can take the place of wheels, tracks and hulls.

Passenger and cargo transportation, warfare and fun pursuits, and even hospital treatment rooms have been invaded by these air pads that can whisk man, his machines and equipment quickly and efficiently over water, ice, snow, desert and swamp. In time, they can bring cities 400 miles apart to within commuting distance at average commuters' prices.

Hovercraft are being used in the wilds of Alaska, on passenger routes between England and France, in the heart of the African bush, and by U.S. troops in Vietnam.

The hovercraft principle is revolutionary: for the first time, a vehicle has been produced which goes without the wheel.

British electronics engineer, invented the hovercraft when he suspended two old coffee cans in space with air blown down through them from a small industrial drier.

Two years later, in 1955, he built a successful working model craft and patented his invention. In 1961 the first hovercraft was built. The three-and-a-half ton SRN-1 could cross waves of two feet at 25 knots. By 1963 it weighed seven tons and sped to 60 knots over seas of five feet.

Now the SRN4 passenger and car ferry can carry a 163 ton load over 10-foot waves at a maximum speed of 70 knots.

Today there are dozens of hovercraft, ranging in size from the SRN-4 to a single-seater sports runabout small enough to ride on the roof of a family auto.

The British hovercraft industry, though still the world's leader, is under increasingly tough foreign competition, mainly from the United States and from France, where a high-speed hovertrain is already running on test tracks.

British Hovercraft Corp. claims to be the world's largest hovercraft manufacturer, with yearly sales totaling $24 million, more than 50 per cent of its market is foreign. It has licensed Bell Aerospace Corp. of the United States and Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Ltd. of Japan to manufacture hovercraft, and operates in 30 countries.

The ferry business, however, is only one aspect of air cushion development.

Hovercraft manufacturers are developing and building vehicles for recreation, marine research, transportation of cargo and equipment, and warfare.

The army can use them for logistics and support and as high-speed interceptors over land or water. They can carry troops, guns and guided weapons under a radar screen over shallows, reefs and surf from an inshore base, getting underway in less than a minute.

The British army has formed two units to experiment with the crafts and plans to test them on NATO exercises in Europe.

Hovercraft also are being used in coastguard operations against smuggling and there are plans to utilize them for air-sea rescue.

At the other end of the scale are the runabouts of the seventies—one and two-seater hovercraft for beaches, ice and snow, to turn tundra and leafy estuaries into playgrounds.

And perhaps the most exciting single application of air cushion transportation is the hovertrain—a 100-seater that will run on an air cushion less than one inch thick over concrete pylons at speeds of more than 200 miles an hour. Even 500 miles an hour is considered feasible.

France holds a thin lead in the development of hovertrains over Britain and the United States. A four-mile stretch of test track 30 miles from Paris has been in use since 1966. No fare-paying passengers have been carried, but trains have reached upward of 155 miles an hour. A British company plans to open a test track in England this year.

BHC and Britain's Central Electricity Generating Board have designed and built air cushion equipment to fit current heavy load transporters. A 150-ton transformer was pumped up onto a nylon skirt and safely carried across a flimsy old bridge. Equipment to carry loads of 700 tons by 1971 is on the drawing board, with obvious application in regions afflicted by ice, snow and swamp.

Hoverpallets have been built to float loads of one to five tons in stores, warehouses and ships' holds. The platform is like an upside-down electric stove, with air blasted through rings on the underside.

A hoverbed has been developed painlessly to "float" patients severely injured by burns. Hovercraft have been used by explorers. They were the first powered vehicles ever to fully navigate the Amazon river in South America. The craft's longest journey so far has been through central Africa—5,000 miles in 83 days.

EIGHT AREA ISU STUDENTS TO BE HONORED MAY 3

Eight area Illinois State University students will be honored at the university's 29th annual Honors Day Convocation at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 3, in Capen Auditorium.

Those honored will be Linda O'Harrow of Beardstown, Patricia Standish of Chandlerville, Larry Featherstone of Greenfield.

Famela Trutter and Cynthia Wallis of Jacksonville, Peggy Green Grimsley of Barry, Mary Voelker of Pittsfield and Diana Buhlig of Winchester.

The convocation honors those in the top three per cent of the undergraduate student body.

Dr. Francis B. Belshe, associate dean of faculties, and dean of the summer session at ISU, will be the featured speaker for the program. President Samuel E. Braden will preside.

WHITAKER HEADS FOR GRID CAREER

Jacksonville's Creston Whitaker got over his disappointment over not being picked in the recent professional basketball draft in a hurry last week in a surprising turn of events that may send the North Texas State University senior to a professional career in an area he had almost forgotten.

Whitaker last Friday signed a two-year contract with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League for a "generous" bonus. The bonus and two-year contract, an exception rather than the rule in pro football circles, comes to Whitaker after he was ignored in the basketball and football drafts and has not played football since leaving Jacksonville High school in 1965.

WHITAKER DISCUSSED the signing this week in a Denton, Texas, newspaper. "I am very excited about this. I can't say how much they're paying me, but I do know it is the largest contract the Rams have ever given a free agent."

According to the article, the story began several weeks ago when Denton RECORD-CHRONICLE Sports Editor Dwayne Hartnett had coffee with Eddie Meador and Jack Pardee of the Rams. Hartnett indicated he felt Whitaker had what it takes to play professional football and Meador relayed the information to Rams' head coach George Allen. Allen came to Dallas recently to talk with the Dallas Cowboys and Hartnett and Meador continued the Whitaker sales pitch.

A RAM SCOUT contacted Whitaker last Thursday. "He took me out to a practice field and timed me at :04.5 for the 40-yard dash," recalls Whitaker. Later that afternoon Whitaker was flying to Los Angeles.

Friday afternoon Whitaker worked out with Ram quarterback Roman Gabriel and wide receivers Wendell Tucker and Jack Snow. "I had expected to be tried only as a defensive back," said Whitaker, "but Gabriel started throwing to me. I hadn't caught a pass in four years, but I think I dropped only one all afternoon."

After the Friday afternoon workout, the Rams made an offer and Whitaker became a Ram before the day was over, evidently assigned to either flanker or split end when the Rams open camp this summer.

Allen commented after the signing, "I feel Creston will play a lot of ball for us in the future."

JUST BEFORE signing with the Rams, Whitaker called the Cowboys, who had shown interest in signing the North Texas cage star, to appraise them of the situation. "They said they did not want to get involved in a bidding war, and I told them that suited me fine," Whitaker commented.

"I feel very grateful that the Rams have expressed so much confidence in me," Whitaker continued. "I will go into camp with a positive attitude, and I'll do everything I can to make a contribution to the team."

Whitaker also commented that he was impressed with the type of people he ran into in the Ram organization, especially Gabriel. "I didn't know what to expect from a guy like Gabriel because of his big name, but he is really a tremendous person. He kind of took me under his wing and showed me around Los Angeles."

WHITAKER, WHO stands 6-2 and weighs 188, has been put on a weight program by the Rams to boost him up to 195 pounds.

Whitaker was an all-state halfback at Jacksonville High school and spent two years on a basketball scholarship at Southern Illinois University before moving on to North Texas State, sitting out a year of eligibility in between.

Whitaker had expected to be drafted by the Atlanta Hawks of the National Basketball League recently and was admittedly disappointed and mystified by the turn of events. Whitaker had since talked to the Milwaukee Bucks of the NBA before signing with the Rams.

IC Tips Quincy In Eleventh, 6-4

Quincy — A perfect suicide squeeze bunt in the bottom of the eleventh inning produced the winning run as Illinois College clipped Quincy College, 6-4, for the second time this season Wednesday afternoon.

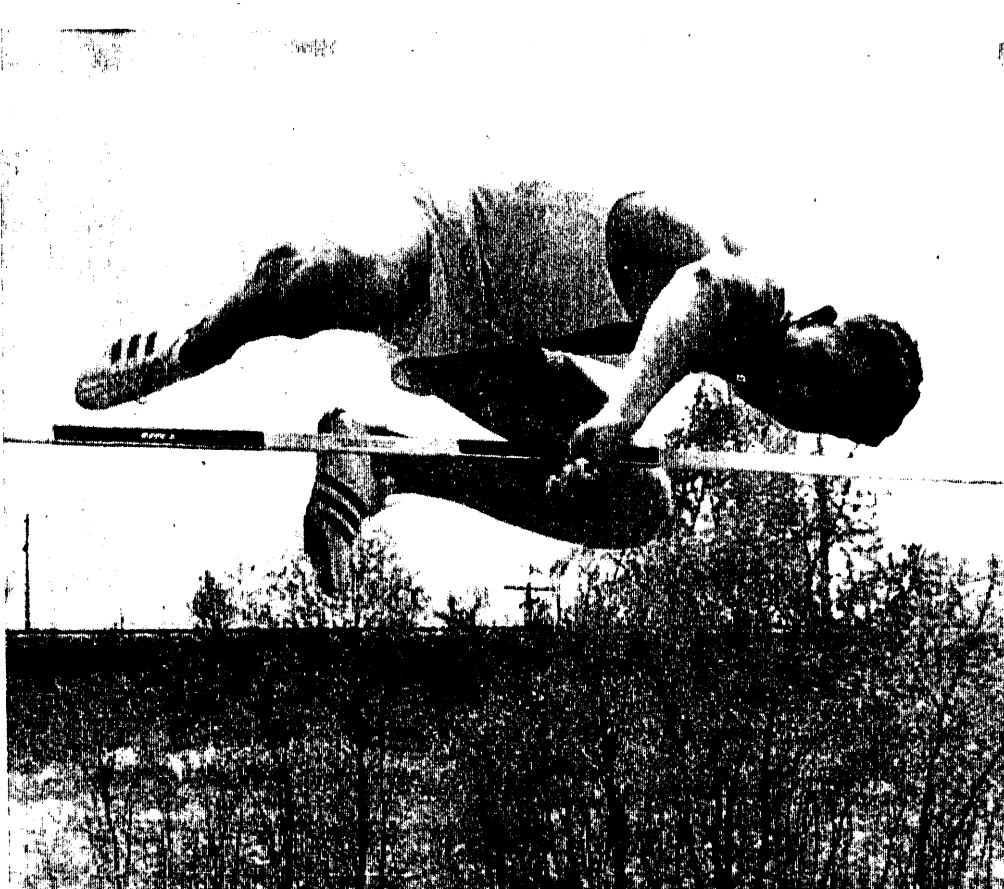

After seeing a 4-2 lead vanish in the bottom of the ninth, the winners, now 4-6 for the season, held the hosts in check before gaining the verdict in the eleventh. Tom Murgatroyd and Rich Orr opened the 11th with singles and Mike Uppinghouse walked to load the bases. Randy Akers then put down a perfect squeeze bunt to score Murgatroyd with the go-ahead tally. Orr scored on Jim Jenkins' fielder's choice grounder for an insurance run.

The Blueboys scored twice in the third when winning hurler Kent Wildrick and Glen Phillips walked and John Dooling stroked a two-run double. Murgatroyd blasted a two-run double after Hank Schmitt was hit by a pitch. Wildrick singled and Phillips reached on a fielding miscue in the eighth.

Wildrick went the distance, fanning two and giving up two free passes.

STANDOUTS: These two individuals emerged as standouts in the annual PMSC Conference track and field meet on the MacMurray College campus Wednesday afternoon. Top, Chandler's Kim Kirchner set a new meet record with a leap of 6'0" in the high jump, best in the area this season. Bottom, ISD's Willie Forrest is shown winning the 100 yard dash. Forrest also captured the 220 and long jump to pace his club to the team title.

ISD Wins

Seven Marks Fall In PMSC Action

Led by Triple winner Willie Forrest, ISD swept to its fifth consecutive PMSC Conference track title as seven records fell in the meet held on the MacMurray College track Wednesday afternoon.

ISD ran up 79½ points, winning eight of the 15 events, to 41½ by Pleasant Hill, 32½ by Chandler, 23, Triopia 22½, Meredosias 20, Bluffs 6, Virginia 4 and Perry 0.

Forrest swept the 100, 220 and long jump events, and ran a leg on the winning 880 relay squad. Forrest's 10:5.100 broke the record of 10:6, held by several runners.

Chandler's Kim Kirchner went 6'0" in the high jump to eclipse the previous best of 5'11½" by Ron Siepek of ISD in 1969. Kirchner won the event at 5'11" and made the area best of 6'0" on his third try.

Pleasant Hill's Wayne Puterbaugh broke two records in winning the mile in 5:53.9 and the 880 in 2:11.1. The previous bests were 5:56.7 and 2:11.9, both set by Bill Fox of ISD in 1967.

ISD's Jesse Quintero turned in a sparkling 53.2 440, an area best, to break the old mark of 55.6, held by Ron Penn of ISD and set in 1968.

The ISD 880 and mile relay squads both established meet records, breaking the 880 mark of 1:40.2 and the mile relay standard of 3:50.7. Meredosias' Ron Summers flipped the shot put 48'6" to tie the area's best.

Ray Toland New Coach At Virginia

VIRGINIA — Ray Toland, 32, the head basketball coach at the past three seasons, has been hired as the head coach mentor at Virginia High school, according to an announcement by Virginia principal James Lumos Wednesday morning.

Toland, who has a 58-22 record at Greenville, will serve as head basketball, golf and cross country coach at Virginia. Toland replaces Larry Overturf, who has indicated he will remain in the Virginia system as a teacher, was head coach at Virginia for five years and ran up an impressive 90-39, 698 record.

Cards Blow Lead, Suffer 10-6 Loss

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rico Carty, stretching his hitting streak to 19 games, keyed a five-run Atlanta ninth-inning rally with a double as the Braves scored a 10-6 victory over St. Louis Wednesday night.

The Cards, with a comfortable 6-1 lead after seven innings, saw their edge dwindle to 6-5 as the Braves got four runs in the eighth.

Then in the ninth, Atlanta's Tony Gonzalez drew a one-out walk, Henry Aaron singled and Carty, hitless previously, drilled a double to right to tie the score. An intentional walk to Orlando Cepeda followed and the tie-breaking run crossed on an error by Richie Allen of Felix Millan's bounce.

Best Baseball Team Of All Time?

NEW YORK (AP) — The greatest baseball team of all time?

Some say it was the 1927 New York Yankees. Others vote for the 1931 Philadelphia A's and the 1934 Cleveland Indians.

The 1954 Cleveland Indians got a little backing. So do the 1955 and 1956 Brooklyn Dodgers. And the 1961 New York Yankees, the 1966 Baltimore Orioles and the 1957 Milwaukee Braves.

In connection with a computer elimination contest, the National Broadcasting Company is asking fans and players to vote for their favorite team. The six winners will join the 1951 New York Giants and the 1969 New York Mets in a computerized tournament what will be telecast during the summer in pregame shows before the weekly Game of the Week broadcasts.

The '69 Mets and '51 Giants will meet in the first game May 9 with Sal Maglie pitching against Tom Seaver. Pertinent film clips of players and interviews will help the announcers create an abbreviated version of a game. Winners will advance in the eight-club competition with a finale scheduled for late August.

Members of the Hall of Fame and other outstanding players were invited to join fans in sending letters to a computer in Princeton, N.J. with their choice as the best team in the last 50 years. Over 2,500 letters have been received. The deadline is May 4.

There are some interesting selections. Curt Simmons, one of the great pitching stars of the Philadelphia Whiz Kids in 1950, voted surprisingly for the 1955 Dodgers.

Bob Friend followed the form chart by selecting the 1960 Pittsburgh Pirates for whom he was an outstanding pitcher.

Frankie Frisch, a shortstop on the 1931 Cardinals who beat the Philadelphia A's in the series in which Pepper Martin ran wild, voted for that '31 team with the reservation that he would switch to the 1934 Cards, whom he managed, "in a short series."

Although Charlie Gehringer, the Hall of Famer played on some great Detroit teams, he picked the 1927 Yankees as did Bill Dickey who came along later and caught for many famous Yankee clubs.

Other picks by great players included: St. Louis Browns yet. But the polls are still open.

CHICAGO (AP) — Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, citing better attendance and balance of competition already this season, said Wednesday he had "great optimism" for baseball's future.

USAC Sprinters Have Two Dates Slated In Ohio

INDIANAPOLIS — Sprint Car enthusiasts in the state of Ohio are in for a treat this weekend as they will have two chances to watch the powerful cars compete.

On Saturday night May 2 they return to the Eldora Speedway in Rossburg, Ohio to run under the lights and then make their way to the Tri-County Speedway near Cincinnati for a similar program of events on Sunday night. Qualifying, four heats, a semi and a 40 lap feature will make up the program on both evenings.

Larry Dickson of Marietta, Ohio emerged as the winner of last Saturday night's main event at Reading, Pa. thereby winning his fourth race in five starts. As current point leader he will be matched against 1969 Champion, Gary Bettenhausen, the Finley Park, Ill. driver who is the only man to have beaten Dickson in sprint car competition this season.

Dickson and Bettenhausen will be joined by sprint car regulars, Lee Kunzman, Guttenberg, Iowa; Rollie Beale, Toledo, Ohio; Greg Weld, Independence, Mo.; Bill Puterbaugh, Speedway, Ind.; Sam Sessions, Nashville, Mich.; Karl Busson, Toledo, Ohio; Jerry Poland, New Carlisle, Ohio; Don Nordhorn, Wadsworth, Ind.; Todd Gibson, Richwood, Ohio; and many others.

Hornets Topple Quincy CB, 6-5

MT. STERLING — Randy Duwendack and Randy Yackle were the hitting stars as the Brown County Hornets nipped Quincy Christian Brothers 6-5 Wednesday afternoon.

Duwendack, who scattered eight hits in picking up the victory, had two hits in three trips to the plate, while Yackle drove in what proved to be the winning run with a single in a three-run fourth inning.

Blues Hope To 'Ice' Western Playoffs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The best of seven Stanley Cup series, trying to overcome a jinx on foreign ice, meet the Pittsburgh Penguins Thursday night in what could be the final to the battle for the National Hockey League's Western Division playoff title.

The Blues' 5-0 victory over the Penguins Tuesday night only confirmed what Penguin coach Red Kelly says he already knew.

Kuhn told the Executive Club of Chicago that baseball's greatest need, in a period of demanding important changes, is "better administration" in an area in which clubs and leagues in the past "tried to hold considerable prerogative."

Kuhn did not touch on Curt Flood's anti-trust suit against baseball, but referred to the

Western Varsity Called Favorite Against Alumni

MACOMB — The highly versatile Western Illinois football varsity has been tabbed as the favorites in the 10th annual Vince Grady Alumni game at Hanson Field May 9.

Although the Leathernecks lost their All-Star flankerback, Ron Wilson, to the St. Louis Cardinals, most of the squad, which averaged nearly 430 yards per game last season, will be back.

Western's all-conference line-backer of 1968, Joe McLaughlin (Macomb) who also captained the squad, has been selected as head coach for the Alumni game at Hanson Field May 9.

McLaughlin said about 45-50 former players are expected to participate in the game which is named after a former Western freshman player who was paralyzed in a junior varsity game at Kirksville, Mo. in 1958. Grady will be present for the 8 p.m. kickoff.

Former Western great, Mike Wilson, who is now with the St. Louis Cardinals football squad as a member of one of their specialty teams, and Jim Angsten, a 1969 WIU line-backer, will assist McLaughlin.

Wilson took a kickoff during the 1967 season; a record which still holds in the WIU books. "We're going to have some real athletes back for this one," said McLaughlin. All-American line-backer Mike Hattery (Bethalto), who still holds Western records in tackles for a game (15), season (89), and career (130), will head the "old-timers." He was graduated in 1968.

Bill Brookhouse, a 1967 all-conference end, will return for his second Grady game. He holds WIU records for the most assists during a career (115) and season (65). He is from Winchester.

One of Western's all-time running backs, Jim Johnson (Decatur), a graduate of 1966, has confirmed he will play in the annual game. Johnson, who is Western Illinois' Director of Black Cultural activities, scored four touchdowns in a single game in 1965 and is a co-holder of that mark with Leroy Jackson, 1960.

Denny McLain case, saying "we need more eyes and minds on the job of looking at activities of everybody in baseball."

Pitcher McLain of the Detroit Tigers was suspended by Kuhn until July 1 for involvement with bookmaking activities in Flint, Mich., in 1967.

The 1970 season's first three weeks, Kuhn said, found 15 major league clubs with attendance surpassing the same period last year, with at least five clubs averaging over 20,000.

Kuhn said another encouraging factor was indication of balanced competition with only the Baltimore Orioles now holding over as a leader among the four division 1969 champions.

Hunt's Single Lets Giants Tip New York By 8-6

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ron Hunt's eighth-inning single with the bases loaded drove in Boh Heise with the winning run and San Francisco defeated the New York Mets 8-6 Wednesday.

Cal Koonce, the Mets' third-hurrier in the eighth, hit Willie Mays with a pitched ball after Heise had scored, sending Alan Gallagher home with an insurance run.

Pinch hitter Gallagher's single, his first hit after an 0-26 drought, scored Ken Henderson and tied the score 6-6.

Larry Exton Takes Post At Pontiac

WINCHESTER — Larry Exton has resigned as head football coach at Winchester High school to take a similar position at Pontiac High school, he announced Wednesday afternoon.

Exton turned in his resignation as Winchester High principal and head football coach Wednesday afternoon and has accepted the job as head football coach and as yet an undetermined teaching post at Pontiac.

Exton served the last six years as head football mentor of the Wildcats after three years as an assistant there and two years as head basketball and baseball coach at San Jose High school. Exton received his bachelor's degree from Illinois State and masters from the University of Illinois.

During his six years as head coach at Winchester, Exton compiled a 31-19-5 coaching record, winning the Illinois Valley Conference crown in 1965 and 1968, turning in a 7-0-2 mark in 1965.

Exton gave this statement Wednesday evening: "I wish to express my gratitude to the people of Winchester for supporting me and the sports program at the school. This was not an easy decision to make. Pontiac has an enrollment of 900 and a projected enrollment of 1,200 by 1972, and I wanted to try coaching football in a larger school."

Kivisto Inks Tender For U. Of Kansas

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — Tom Kivisto, Aurora East High School's All-State basketball player, Wednesday signed a tender to enroll at the University of Kansas.

At Kansas, Kivisto joins his brother, Bob, a sophomore basketball starter for the Jayhawks the past season. Their father, Ernie, is Aurora East basketball coach.

Tom, who averaged 27 points last season, had narrowed his college choice to between Kansas and Illinois. He plans to study dentistry.

Bonds, Stewart Pace 7-3 Margin

JERSEYVILLE — Jim Bonds and Roger Stewart each drove in a pair of runs and Tim O'Rourke stroked three hits as Jacksonville rolled to a 7-3 victory over Jerseyville Wednesday afternoon.

The Crimson's, now 9-7 for the season, broke the game open with two runs in the fourth and two more in the fifth, with Bonds running his mound record to 5-2.

Ed Aring and Stewart stroked solo home runs for a 2-2 deadlock before the Jacks broke in front in the fourth. Matt Freesen singled, was sacrificed to second by Stewart and Fred Rimbey and Bonds stroked run-scoring singles in the two-run fourth.

Three walks and Freesen's single accounted for two more.

JHS Tennis Team Runs Mark To 10-0

Jacksonville High school dropped the first match of the day but came back to capture the next eight points to capture an 8-1 victory over Quincy Christian Brothers on the Illinois College courts Wednesday afternoon.

Bob Veness, Scott Hemphill, Bill Vaniter, Phil Houser and Chris Morris swept singles matches, with the same six teaming up to score three doubles victories.

The Crimson's are unbeaten in ten tries this campaign. JHS won the junior varsity match 2-1, with Paul Elloe picking up a singles point and Steve Welch and Kevin Sorrell winning a doubles point.

McMullen's Hit Lets Angels End New York Jinx

NEW YORK (AP) — Ken McMullen's RBI single in the eighth inning proved to be the deciding run as the California Angels edged the New York Yankees 3-2 Wednesday.

McMullen's single off reliever Lindy McDaniel followed a walk and a pinch single by Bill Voss, giving the Angels a 3-1 lead. "The Yankees added a run in the ninth when Thurman Munson drew a one out walk, pinch hitter Frank Tepedino doubled and pinch-hitter Pete Ward's groundout drove home Munson.

Winning pitcher Andy Messersmith, who went six innings, and relievers Paul Doyle and Ken Tatum combined to check the Yankees on seven hits as the Angels won in New York for the first time since Aug. 27, 1968.

Rookie John Cumberland, making his first major league start, took the loss. The Angels grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second inning and made it 2-0 in the sixth. Alex Johnson's forceout delivered Jarvis Tatum, who had singled and advanced to third on Jim Fregosi's hit and run single.

Siebert Escapes Beanball Battle For 5-3 Verdict

BOSTON (AP) — Sonny Siebert flashed his sharpest pitch of the year before being ejected in a sixth inning beanball incident, striking out nine batters and picking up his first victory as the Boston Red Sox downed the Oakland Athletics 5-3 Wednesday night.

The veteran right-hander, bombed in his first three starts, shut out the A's on four hits over the first five innings but left prematurely when a melée developed after he hit Reggie Jackson with a pitch. Relievers Lee Stange, Ken Brett and Sparky Lyle preserved the triumph.

Siebert was hit by a pitch in the fifth inning—the first of two incidents which emptied both dugouts and led to the sixth inning fracas. Mike Andrews followed with a bunt single, Luis Alvarado doubled home one run and Tony singled home another to make it 4-0.

Jackson, Siebert, Oakland pitcher John Odom and Boston Coach George Thomas all were thrown out of the game. Oakland 000 000 120—3 8 0

BEARDSTOWN — Gary Wessel and Mike Lewis combined on a neat two-hitter as Beardsdown downed Lewistown 4-2 in a Spoon River Conference tilt Wednesday afternoon.

Lewis and Rich Walker were each two-for-three at the plate, with Walker slamming a solo homer in the fifth.

17 Likely Starters For Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mother Nature and Doc Lavin will help make the final decision, but for the moment 17 horses seem likely starters in Saturday's 96th Kentucky Derby.

All 17 trainers are keeping wary eyes on the sky over Churchill Downs, some hoping for rain, but most fearing it. They also are concerned with the results when Lavin, the racing secretary, draws for post positions Thursday morning.

With a possibility of the largest field since Tony Lee won in 1959, post position will be a serious factor. Most trainers favor a starting gate near the middle of the pack or toward the rail from center.

Two candidates—Supreme Quality and Fathom—were withdrawn Wednesday from Derby consideration, Supreme Quality because of a foot problem and Fathom because of a poor showing in Tuesday's Derby Trial.

The loss of Fathom means the "for men only" sign still hangs over the Derby jockey room, Diane Crump would have been the colt's rider.

Unearned Tally Lets Minnesota Down Tribe, 1-0

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Twins nipped Cleveland rookie Rich Hand for an unearned run and Jim Kaat and Stan Williams made it stand up for a 1-0 victory over the Indians Wednesday.

Williams came on with men on first and second in the ninth and two out and picked Tony Horton off second base to end the game.

Tony Oliva scored Minnesota's third inning run from second base after Indian third baseman Graig Nettles let Rich Reese's boulder go into left field.

Oliva had forced Leo Cardenas, who had singled, and had taken second on Harmon Killebrew's two-out single.

Senator Homers Support Bosman In 4-0 Shutout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aurelio Rodriguez and Frank Howard slammed homers, backing the strong pitching of Dick Bosman in Washington's 4-0 triumph over Milwaukee Wednesday night.

Rodriguez, acquired from California Sunday, cracked a solo homer in the fourth inning—his second in two nights—and Howard ripped his seventh of the season, a two-run shot in the fifth.

Bosman, 3-2, scattered seven singles in going the distance for the Senators' second complete game this year and got added batting support from Ed Stroud's three hits. The fleet outfielder tripled and scored on Lee Maye's single in the third and had two other singles.

Merritt Gains Fifth Victory On 5-3 Decision

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim Merritt, Cincinnati's winningest pitcher last year, needed relief help but he became the major leagues' first five-game winner of the season as the Reds whipped the Houston Astros 5-3 Wednesday.

The sixth double registered off Merritt in the eighth inning was the blow that brought Clay Carroll in to relieve.

The Reds profited heavily from wildness by Tom Griffin, the Astro starter. They broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth without a hit as Griffin walked Bernie Carbo with the bases loaded.

Cincinnati locked it up in the seventh on a double by Bobby Tolan, an intentional walk to Tony Perez and a two-run double by Johnny Bench.

Walks by Griffin in the third and fourth also led to the first two Cincinnati runs.

OIL-DRENCHED crewmen of British freighter London Valour are seen in one of ship's boats after vessel was wrecked in a freakish storm off the Italian port of Genoa. Two British women, the captain and at least nine crew members perished in the disastrous storm, which struck suddenly as the ship waited outside the port to enter the harbor.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's not too early to make a prediction about television in 1971-72: it will be the season of the stars.

Never before in television history will so many important film stars be appearing in their own series. These projects already have been announced:

Henry Fonda will star for ABC in a generation-gap series called "The Smith Family," produced by Don Feddersen, creator of "My Three Sons," "Family Affair" and "To Rome with Love."

Shirley MacLaine will have her own ABC series, to be produced in England by Sheldon Leonard, late of "I Spy" and "My World and Welcome to It."

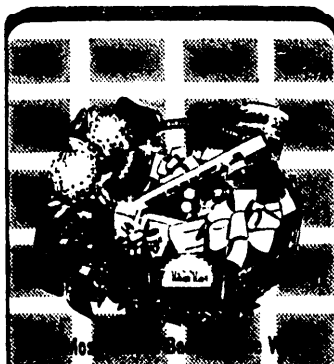

Tony Curtis will costar with Roger Moore in an ABC adventure series, also to be made in England. Like the MacLaine series, this one is backed by British producer Lew Grade, who plans to release it simultaneously on English and American television.

Glenn Ford has signed for a comedy half-hour about a police detective who takes over a youth center. CBS has ordered the series from 20th Century-Fox.

Dick Van Dyke will return to CBS in a new series which will be filmed near his home in Phoenix, Ariz.

James Garner, who first achieved fame as "Maverick" on ABC, is going back to television in an adventure series for NBC.

Other top stars are being offered to the networks for future series. Why? The reason is clearly written in the tortured economics of the movie business.

Noisy Plumbing Is Sign To Be Wary

By MR. FIX

A noisy plumbing system is more than annoying. It is a sign of a possible breakdown. Eliminate the noise and you probably have eliminated some future trouble also.

The noises may range from squealing and chattering to heavy banging.

A whistling noise that occurs whenever a faucet is turned on indicates trouble within the faucet. This generally is followed by a vibrating noise.

Often there is nothing more to repair than a worn or loose washer. Take the spindle out and inspect it. Replace the washer with a new one. Tighten the screw that holds the washer in place. If the screw is badly worn, replace it.

With an older faucet check the threads of the faucet spindle itself. If badly worn, it may not fit well. Look at the threads for signs of wear or damage. Get a new spindle if you can, taking the old one with you to a plumbing supply house.

It will help if you know the name of the manufacturer of the faucet. In rare instances the entire faucet may need replacing, but generally a new spindle will be enough.

The hammering and banging noises come with vibrations of pipes that are loose or improperly mounted. As water rushes through a pipe and around an elbow, it will cause the pipe to move and vibrate if the mountings are not secure.

Check pipes in exposed areas of the basement. Tighten pipe straps or add more. Trouble is most likely to occur at joints so check elbows and T's. Straps may not be enough. If vibration is occurring at a joint (you can tell by observation), then brace the pipe at these points by nailing wooden blocks against the nearby surface so that they press against the pipe.

When pipes are all securely mounted, the banging is actually the hammering of water within the pipe. The rushing water literally bangs against the inside of the pipe when a valve is closed but the momentum continues.

If pipes are not loose when this starts to happen, they will be before too long.

Plumbing systems generally are guarded against this sort of problem with air chambers which absorb the shock. An air

If you are adding air chambers to an old system try adding one to the highest faucet in the house or to the cold water pipe in the basement close to the water meter.

In time some of these pipes may develop an air leak and they fill with water. Drain and replace the pipe when this happens.

MILLIKIN U. SCHOLARSHIP FOR TRIPIA SENIOR

Miss Vickie Hamilton, Chapin, route one, has been awarded a University scholarship by Millikin University for the 1970-71 academic year.

A senior at Triopia High School, Vickie plans to enter Millikin in September and major in music.

Announcement of the scholarship grant was made today by Jack C. Allen, Director of Admissions at Millikin University.

A representative on student council, she is a member of the school band and chorus. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlin Hamilton.

THURSDAY, APRIL 30—Born today, you are a person bent on improving things around you. Your home, your place of employment, your friends, yourself: all these you would see better than they are. You will have to be careful, however, as you go about trying to better whatever you come into contact with, that you don't arouse the ire of others who have no desire whatever to be improved or changed in any way. Learn to keep your criticism to yourself; turn your desire for improvement inward.

At the same time, however, your instinct for order pays some very good dividends. It makes you a calm person to be around, one who can be depended upon not to become confused or upset. Your desire to see things in their right place results in your having a peaceful well-ordered household. If a man, your careful approach to your work should gain you a great deal of recognition from higher-ups.

Your relationships with other people, though they may prove stormy during those times when you are busy attempting to refurbish them, tend to be exceptionally stable when left well enough alone. For you establish them on a basis of harmony and never ask that they become a refuge for you; rather, you prefer them to reflect life itself.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, May 1
TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Take care that in making haste you don't make the wrong decision. A moment of foresight can prevent a great deal of regret in future.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—A day when you should be able to do things in your own time and your own way. Give others a chance to do the same.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Domestic chores take more time than you had planned to give them. Don't be surprised, therefore, should evening plans need postponement.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—The way you handle an unexpected meeting has much to do with the future of a friendship. Demonstrate your stability.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—The suddenness of a morning event may throw you off guard. Take care not to give in too quickly to demands for either time or money.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Though you try to hide the strain on the nerves, those who know you best will probably see through your efforts. Confide in another.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Priding yourself on your ability to make quick decisions may be unwise at this time. You don't want to be forced into a demonstration.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Place your trust in another's honesty. There is much to be said for taking on new responsibilities just now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—Though the contributions of others may be small, they are no doubt heartfelt. Accept them in the spirit in which they are given.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—The wise Aquarius will verify what he's recently heard before acting upon it. You could be making a mistake.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—Entertainment during the evening makes up for daytime difficulties on the employment scene. Try to get along with another.

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—You may be hurting yourself with too much of a good thing. Take care that lack of restraint is not causing you to fall from favor.

Frantic Girl's Problem Gone — But She 'Cried Like Hell'

(Editor's Note: The following story is not family reading. In the past three years, 13 states have repealed or rewritten old laws concerning abortions, and on April 23 a bill legalizing abortion anywhere in the United States was introduced in Congress.)

By TOM TIEDE

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Tall, solemn Norma Black is a pitiful statistic. A few months ago she was among the several million women in the nation who annually need or want an abortion. A few weeks ago she became one of the estimated one million who, out of sheer desperation, got one illegally. It took half a day. It cost $500.

It hurt a little. And Norma chokes, even now, remembering. Black is not the girl's real name. Norma is. She refuses to be identified because of the risk of prosecution or persecution. Abortion is still against the law in most places. Even where it isn't, she says, "There are good Christians who would be willing to boil me in oil."

Norma is 23. Until recently, a secretary. And unmarried. "I don't know who the father is," she said. "That sounds bad, I know, but not really. I've only dated a couple of guys seriously. Both of them offered to marry me, after I told them—but I couldn't do it. It was as much my fault as either of theirs. And I didn't love either one. So it was my problem." At first, Norma Black wanted to see the problem through, as routinely as circumstances permitted. She wouldn't be the only unwed mother in history. There are hundreds of thousands of others each year. In her crowd, a fatherless child would be sympathetically accepted.

But then came complications. "I had always had gall bladder trouble," she related. "But I never thought much about it until the doctor said it would cause real worries in pregnancy. I forget the exact reasons. He did say something about permanent damage and that sort of thing and it scared hell out of me. He wasn't too kind, anyway, because he thought I was just some tramp, and he just mumbled he'd do everything he could."

"After that I had to tell my parents. They're divorced. My dad didn't say much and offered to help in any way. But my mother went out of her head. I told her by phone and she hung up. Then she called back and hung up again. Finally, she insisted, screaming into the phone, that I get a quick abortion."

By then, Norma Black was nine weeks pregnant, and two or three weeks unnerved by confusion, strain and fear. She asked her doctor about the possibility of abortion—"and for awhile I thought he'd toss me out of his office." She asked another doctor about it—"and he said it was completely impossible." She asked a third—"and like God was punishing me, he turned out to be a Catholic."

One evening, in her apartment, talking with a friend, Norma Black became hysterical. She says she doesn't really know why. "I'm not panicky or dumb. I've got three years of college and I've been around city life for a long time—but I don't know. At that time I would have tried anything."

The girl succeeded in convincing herself she must never have the baby. "I didn't hate it; I just didn't want it any more." She got the name and location of a well-known abortion consultation agency in New York City, and through it and other friends arranged for a speedy operation.

It happened in New York City, Manhattan. That's the only address Norma Black will give. She flew up by shuttle airplane for a 9:30 a.m. appointment.

She says the doctor's building was drab, but the office wasn't too bad. She feels the surgeon was reliable. She was told he was one of hundreds who do abortions as an illegal but, in their eyes, humanitarian adjust to regular practice. She filled out some forms, using her real name. "In case anything happened to me, I guess," she said. She was put in bed. Given a sedative. And went to sleep. That's the story, said Norma Black. Except: "The doctor said it wouldn't

Camera Angles

By IRVING DESFOR

Photography-minded visitors to New York City now have available a new free tourist attraction just one block from Times Square heart. It combines an exhibition gallery, a photo information center, a lounge area, movie and slide presentations and equipment

The new Kodak Gallery and Photo Information Center, at 43rd Street and Avenue of the Americas, made its debut recently with a dedication by company and city officials.

To inaugurate the new gallery, New York City itself was honored by a 70-picture self-portrait in many moods, views and angles produced by off-beat camera or darkroom techniques.

"We have high aspirations for this Gallery and Photo Information Center," said Louis K. Eilers, Kodak president. "We want it to become a worthy partner of New York's many great cultural attractions, not only for the people of the city, but also for the millions who visit here each year."

During the ceremony, he presented a huge framed color print to the city, a happy memento. It was a helicopter view of Shea Stadium taken on the last day of the 1969 World Series with infrared color film. It was the day the amazing Mets amazed the baseball world by winning the Series championship.

The photo exhibitions will be changed periodically but those selected are considered "the most distinguished examples of the art of photography." The display panels are flexible and each exhibition will be rearranged to suit the theme, number and size of photographs shown.

Two information counters will be manned at the center—one on the street level floor and the other on the lower level. At these stations, visitors will be able to inspect, operate and ask about equipment or discuss photographic problems they may have. The area will be decorated with good photographs of popular picture-taking subject matter such as children, pets and animals; birthday parties; holiday gatherings; vacation trips; wedding and graduation ceremonies.

In another area, movies and slide shows are shown in a large, self contained projection unit. They will be changed periodically. In the first show, there were continuous showings of instructional movies, a slide quiz on pictures of famous scenes and works of art, and a slide story of how to make a slide talk.

The serious side of photography as an educational and business tool is featured in other area displays. A wide range of X-ray applications in both well-known and unusual ways are shown through actual radiographs and rear screen projections. In a theme entitled, "More Than Meets the Eye," examples show use in medicine and dentistry, industrial testing, art fraud detection and X-rays of historical artifacts.

Another display demonstrates microfilming for today and for the future. A 37½-foot stack of paper illustrates the amount of normal size, paper needed to handle 200,000 images put on five small reels of microfilm.

Lounge areas also are provided where one can relax comfortably while contemplating an international picture display or see a television screen showing various educational aids children could use in the home as learning tools.

Do I have any suggestions? Yes, one. This Gallery and Photo Information Center is open daily, except Sundays, from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Why not be open for visitors who come on Sundays and evenings? Aren't they entitled to be inspired, to learn, to have some photo problems solved and to relax?

Trucking Employers Inc., representing 12,000 national carriers, said Monday if the Chicago drivers won their wage demands it might consider reopening talks on the contract agreed to last month. Chicago drivers negotiate separately from the national contract.

A spokesman for TEI said the Teamster demands amounted to a 46 per cent pay increase over three years and he doubted if trucking firms would approve such package. Grocery, beverage and gasoline deliveries in the Chicago area are operating on a normal basis since many large chain stores signed union contracts. But large retail stores are laying off sales personnel because their shelves are emptying.

The Illinois State Labor Department reported 35,000 unemployment benefit claims, directly attributed to the strike, have been filed in the state in the last two weeks. Striking union members are not eligible for unemployment compensation.

FAREWELL TEA FOR PITTSFIELD PRIEST SUNDAY
PITTSFIELD — The St. Mary's Catholic church in Pittsfield will honor Father Thomas J. Davenport at a farewell reception from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, April 28, in the parish hall. He has served as pastor of the Pittsfield parish for two years. Father Davenport has been reassigned to Gillespie as of April 28.

The Reverend Herman J. Niebrugge, age 39, of Quincy will replace Father Davenport. He has been the assistant at St. Peter's Catholic church in Quincy since 1967 and has assisted at other parishes, including St. Patrick's in Alton, during his 14-year priesthood. He will also serve the Holy Redeemer church in Barry and the Holy Family church in Griggsville.

The ladies of the Altar Society will serve the refreshments and all friends are invited to attend the reception.

Mrs. Richmond Prentice, Pittsfield school librarian, was elected treasurer of the Western Illinois Audio-Visual association at a recent organizational meeting at Western Illinois University in Macomb. Mrs. Prentice is on the Pittsfield schools instructional materials staff. The newly formed group adopted a constitution and discussed plans for future meetings. Mrs. James Sanderson, librarian at the Pittsfield Higbee school, also attended the meeting.

ELEANOR APPLEBEE ON NU MAKE-UP COMMITTEE
Eleanor R. Applebee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Applebee, 5 Westwood Place, Jacksonville, is a member of the make-up committee of Northwestern University's 39th annual Waa-Mu Show. This year's original musical revue, "Booster Shot," will be presented for seven performances, May 4 through May 9, at Cahn Auditorium on the Evanston, Illinois, campus. Miss Applebee is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority at Northwestern.

Truck Shutdown Awaits Results Of New Meeting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A three-week trucking shutdown in the Chicago area remained stalled Tuesday as thousands of affected persons awaited the outcome of a Teamsters' officials meeting scheduled Thursday in Washington.

The combination strike-lock-out in Chicago has caused layoffs of 116,000 persons employed by industries faced with parts shortages. About 40,000 drivers, dockmen and warehouse workers are striking five trucking associations.

The Chicago Teamsters want a three-year contract providing $1.65 hourly wage hikes and a Chicago union leader says he will attempt to persuade other Teamster officials to scrap a tentatively approved national pact calling for $1.10 raises.

Teamster leaders agreed to the $1.10 pact last month but have delayed submitting the package to their 450,000 nationwide members. Thursday's meeting was called by Frank Fitzsimmons, acting Teamster president, to give further consideration to the contract.

William D. Joyce, secretary-treasurer of Local 710 in Chicago, said, "If the agreement ever gets mailed out, it will be rejected solidly."

He predicted, "There will be quite a floor fight in Washington and I'll be at the head of the pack."

Teamsters are also on strike in St. Louis, Los Angeles, Cleveland and Akron, Ohio. The combined numbers of persons laid off and striking in these areas is more than 100,000.

In a hearing last January, attorney John R. Baskin, representing UPI and Scripps-Herald newspapers, said telegraph service was not included in the technological change being made on the news wires.

Photo transmission, he said, could suffer from the loss of press rates. In 1963, the FCC had decided that American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Western Union were not making enough money on their private-line service and could raise the rates. But that decision made an exception for press users, who were allowed to continue paying the previous rates.

The cost increases to supplement news services could be absorbed by their parent corporations "if they were so inclined," the FCC said.

Greenfield Club Women Honored

GREENFIELD — Ten members of the Greenfield Woman's club attended the annual convention of the 20th District Federation of Women's Clubs Friday at the Holiday Inn East in Springfield, which was hosted by the Mason City Junior Woman's club. Mrs. Jerry Corbett, president of the 20th District, presided. Among the other District officers was Mrs. Sanford Hutchison, recording secretary of Greenfield.

Awards presented to Greenfield club women included a gavel charm to Mrs. Melvin Hankins, fourth in Mrs. Corbett's annual personal award to the best presidents of clubs in the District; two certificates of merit to Mrs. Hutchison for creative writing and an award of excellence from the state legislation chairman, Mrs. George Grimes, for outstanding achievement in legislation which pertains to the new state flag. Members attending in addition to Mrs. Hankins and Mrs. Hutchison from the Greenfield club were Mrs. Richard Cole, Mrs. James Ford, Miss Wilhelmina Hebler, Mrs. Frank Hodapp, Mrs. Howard Hobson, Mrs. Faye Melvin, Mrs. Leo Price and Mrs. W. D. Spencer.

Banquet Planned
The fourth annual Mother-Daughter carry-in supper will be held on Friday, May 1, in the American Legion Hall at 6:30 p.m. This dinner is open to the public; all attending are asked to bring a covered dish and table service. Special recognition of guests and a program will follow the supper.

LIFETIME EXPANDS NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Williams, ex-drummer with Miles Davis, now head of the Tony Williams Lifetime, has added an electronic bass sound — Jack Bruce, former member of Cream.

Also in the group is Larry Young, organist, and John McLaughlin, electric guitarist. The quartet's first album, "Turn It Over," will be released in June and the first single will be "Right On." The group currently is touring the United States.

ELLA IN EUROPE
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ella Fitzgerald's European tour in 1970 takes in 29 cities, 11 of them with Miss Fitzgerald appearing with the Count Basie Band.

Cairo's Historic Hotel Celebrates Centennial

By MAHMOUD ABDULLA

Associated Press Writer
CAIRO (AP) — The sprawling and arabesque Mena House Hotel, whose well-shaded tranquility sheltered many a prominent statesman and general throughout World War II, is celebrating its centennial.

Long a favorite of kings and titled tourists, the Mena House provided a relaxing setting for the 1943 meeting of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek of China and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

The three wartime leaders met there in the "Cairo Conference" to discuss the Allied war in the Far East against Japan. Roosevelt and Churchill came here following their meeting with Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin in Tehran.

The Mena House was named for the pharaoh who founded Egypt's first dynasty and eventually united upper and lower Egypt. It nestles against the side of a hill leading to the pyramids which loom above the hotel like huge mountain peaks.

Today, the Mena House still reflects the timeless grace of an era when visitors arrived in Egypt by ship, and made the pilgrimage to the pyramids by carriage. The very year that the Mena House was opened, the Khedive rebuilt the pyramids road for the benefit of the notables who came for the opening of the Suez Canal.

By chance, the centennial ceremonies in March coincided with the opening of Cairo's newest hotel, the 25-story 400-room Sheraton which dominates the Nile from a site in Dokki, where the route to the pyramids more or less begins. The Sheraton, which boasts a night club, a casino and several bars, is designed for the jet-set, modern package-tour visitor with hard currency in his wallet.

Nowadays, the Mena House also welcomes the credit card, but the verandah at teatime still has a faintly colonial air.

It seems a place for white duck shorts, a white pith helmet and a crisp British accent, of men telling tales of a safari in distant Africa or speaking of a nearby archeological "dig." At the Mena House, the irrigated, cultivated land ends, and up there at the pyramids the desert begins.

The hotel dates back to the reign of the Khedive Ismail, who used it as a rest-house after royal hunting and shooting parties near the pyramids. Later the building was enlarged and converted into an inn in 1870. Now it boasts 122 rooms and 229 beds. Since the June war of 1967, the clientele has been small but normally, particularly in the fashionable winter season, the hotel has been full.

The hotel register reads like a worldwide who's who. The names include Empress Eugenie of France, King Zog of Albania, King Alfonso of Spain, the Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, King Abdel Aziz el Saud of Saudi Arabia, and King Gustaf of Sweden.

During World War II, officers of the British high command frequented the Mena House terrace as allied troops fought desperately to turn back the attacks by Marshal Rommel's Afrika Korps.

Others who have stayed there include Italian opera singer Tito Gobbi, French songstress Edith Piaf, Mistinguette and film star Robert Taylor.

Abdul Tadi, the hotel's general manager, says that President Nixon once visited the Mena House, too, on a visit to Egypt as a private citizen. Nixon came only for lunch or for tea—Abdul Hadi doesn't remember which—on the terrace almost literally within the shadow of the Great Pyramid of Cheops.

After its 100 years, the mansion still enjoys healthfully dry sunshine by day and jasmine-scented winds from the nearby gardens at night. With a paternal eye, Abdul Hadi regards his Mena House as a desert jewel.

War Dads And Auxiliary Plan Banquet May 12

Members of the American War Dads Chapter 28 and Auxiliary met April 21 at the Amvet Post. The Auxiliary president, Nina Abbott, presided and reports were heard. Lena Wyatt led in the pledge to the flag and the obligation followed. Chaplain Dora Ledbetter offered prayer.

A report of the hospital party, through Volunteer Services, was heard. The finance chairman reported on the success of the recent California hamburger luncheon and thanked helpers. A donation was approved to the Korean Cottage project and the Gold Star banquet was discussed and committees appointed.

Ben and Mabel Roodhouse announced the event will be at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 12, at the Masonic Temple. William and Louise Fanning are to decorate and Mr. Fanning will be master of ceremonies. Bernice Ruby is in charge of the program and Dora Ledbetter will obtain gifts and corsages. Mary Looker will register guests. Mildred Smith will invite Gold Star parents and Lena Wyatt and Lucille Cox will serve as Blanche Thomas and Nina Abbott will make outcups. William Fanning, program chairman, gave a paper on The American flag.

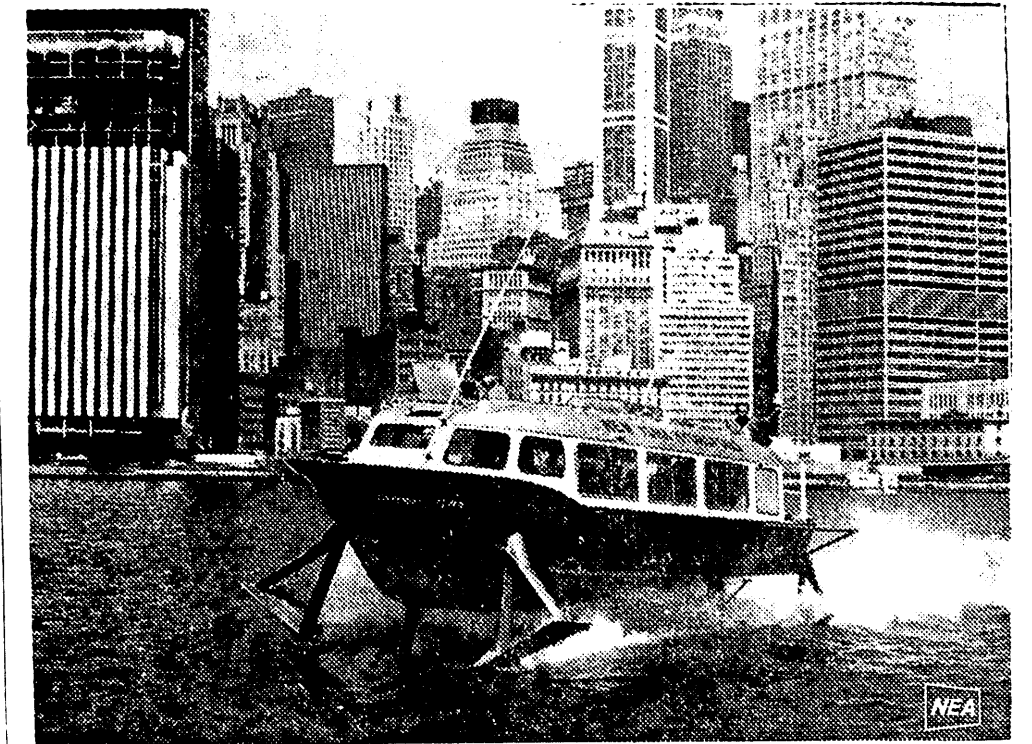

KRIS ROE OF MT. STERLING GETS GIRLS STATE NOD

MT. STERLING — The American Legion Auxiliary of the Mt. Sterling Post announces the choice of Kris Roe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Roe of Mt. Sterling, to attend the annual Illinois Girls State, to be held June 16-23 at MacMurray College in Jacksonville.

The candidate is vice president of the Junior Auxiliary here and a student at Brown County high school.

Members of the Schuyler-Brown County Home Extension Units have been asked to submit information or facts on family or community landmarks, which may be pertinent to the two counties. This is in the interest of compiling material for the local Historical Society.

Nationwide Newspaper For Indians

By BILL BEACHAM
Associated Press Writer
BROWNING, Mont. (AP) —
Boasting nationwide circulation and featuring a column entitled "Buffalo Chips," a four-page
the Browning Sentinel has emerged from the pens of a small band of Blackfeet Indians here.

The Sentinel, which does not yet have any editors, is published by members of the National Association of Blackfeet Indians (NABBI), and was produced to "give members of the tribe the true picture of what's happening."

Lincoln Billedeaux, one of the organizers, says that the Browning area needed more news oriented toward the Blackfeet and their dealings with the tribal council.

"You might say we're a burr under the saddle of the tribal council," Billedeaux explained.
The paper, he said, is put together by nonprofessionals—
"Just regular Indians who are storekeepers and so forth." The column, "Buffalo Chips," is written by Chip Wisent, a pseuonym.

On the front page Thomas Jefferson is quoted:

"It may be regarded as certain that not a foot of land will ever be taken from the Indians without their consent. The sacredness of their rights is felt by all thinking persons in America."

Volume 1, No. 1, consisted of 2,000 copies, half of which were sent to Indian reservations across the country, and half were distributed to people in the Browning area. The paper advertises that paid up members of NABBI can receive a year's subscription for "one buck."

Billedeaux said plans call for bimonthly issues when costs go down and subscriptions go up.

The newspaper, Billedeaux maintained, is going to "advocate a more business-like management of Indian government—a business manager type of government."

Speaking of the tribal council Billedeaux said that "there's a lot of dissatisfaction with the waste of money and with programs that have failed. We wanted to work with the government, but they wouldn't have it.
Now we're doing something about it."

Browning, a town of just over 2,000, is located in the middle of the Blackfeet Reservation in northwest Montana, just south of the Canadian border.

REBEKAH LODGE OF VERSAILLES HOSTS PNG's

VERSAILLES — Idelle Rebekah Lodge of Versailles entertained the Past Noble Grands of the area Wednesday, April 22.
Lodges of Camp Point, Barry, Pittsfield and Versailles were represented.

Following the meeting a takeoff on the television program
Hec-Haw was given by members of the local lodge. A smorgasbord supper was served.

A picture was received last week by a local newspaper of Pfc. Randall Hester making a stream crossing while on patrol near Rach Kien, Vietnam. Hester is the son of Mr. and Mrs.
Tom C. Hester of Versailles and is serving as a rifleman with the Third Brigade, Ninth Infantry Divisions, Fifth Battalion.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilson have recently returned from a visit to Los Angeles, Calif., with relatives and friends. They also attended the wedding reception for their nephew Franklin H.

Computer Mating For Cows 'n Bulls

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Computer dating has come to the cattle set.

Supposedly ideal matches between cow and bull are being arranged through a computer that is looking for the meatiest offspring.

The computer is being used by Patterson Land Co., a large cattle raising corporation operating in North Dakota.

George Duemeland, vice president of the family firm, said top money now is in long line cattle with more meat and less fat. He said it will take a couple of generations to develop nationwide and should not be widespread for 5-10 years.

"We're looking for larger animals because cattlemen's costs have gone up, so we have to produce more meat," he said.
"We don't at this time believe that we will have to reduce the quality of meat."

Duemeland said the new look cattle could prevent meat prices from rising quickly since the product sold to housewives will be meatier.

"We realize the housewife is right when she says meat has had too much waste fat," he said.

New look cattle, he said,
should produce more rib steaks,
T-bones and loin cuts and fewer brisket cuts.

Recommend Southern Leg For North-South Freeway

The corridor for the southern leg of Supplemental Freeway F-13 (Rural) as presented at public hearings at the VFW in Jacksonville Jan. 12 and the American Legion in Roodhouse Jan. 13 has been requested from the U.S. Department of Transportation. Bureau of Public Roads.

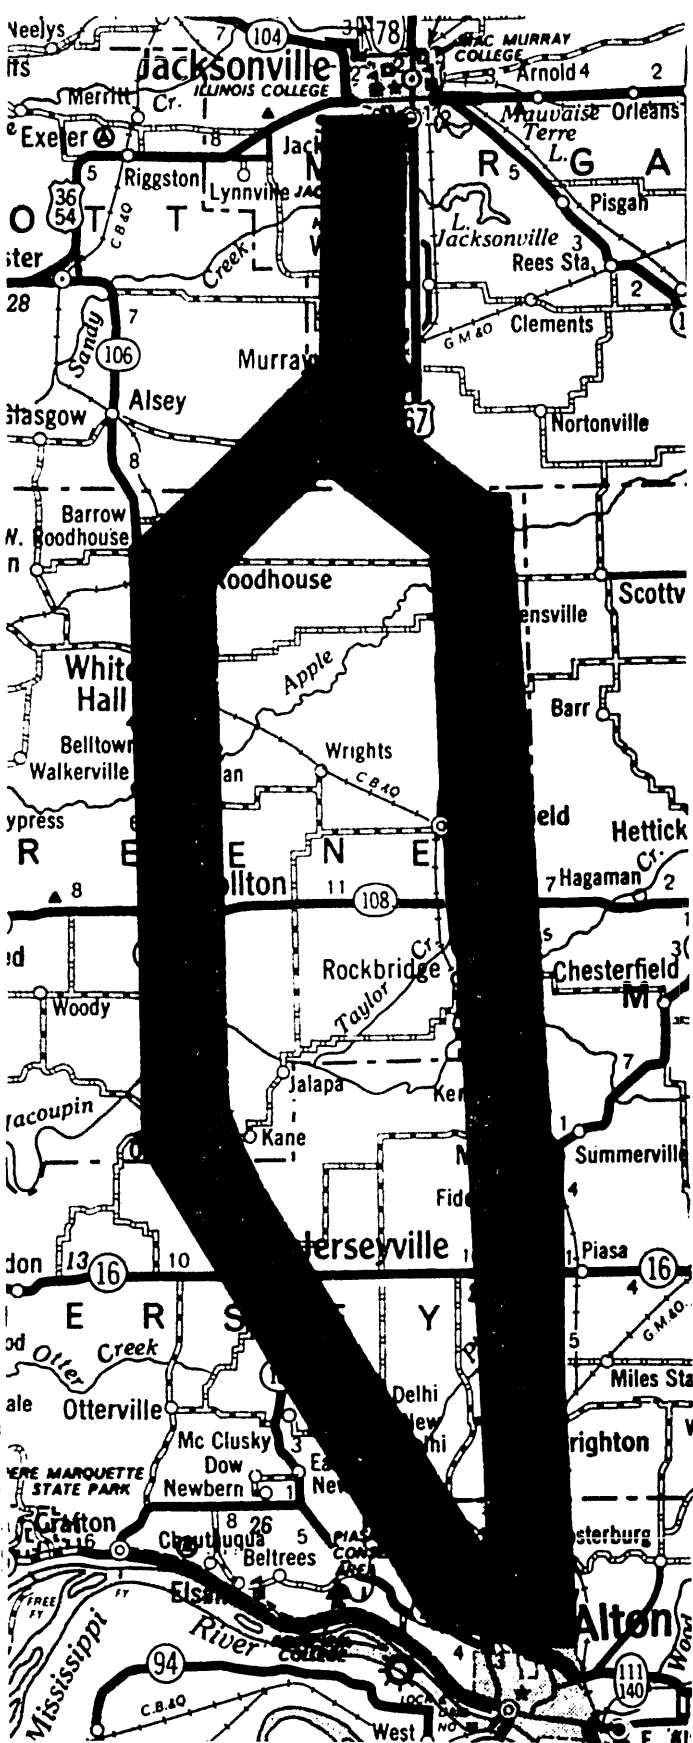

The proposed improvement consists of highway construction on new alignment from the Central Illinois Freeway (F-8), southwest of Jacksonville, generally paralleling Illinois 267, south to Illinois 140 east of Alton.

The highway will run from the Quad Cities area to the Alton-St. Louis area, linking with the West Central Illinois Expressway (the east-west freeway) at an interchange south west of Jacksonville.

Generally, the recommendations have followed the most direct route proposed, however, this particular segment takes into consideration the population served in the area by the highway and generally swings closer to Roodhouse, White Hall, Carrollton and Jerseyville. Highway authorities at all public meetings indicated that all aspects of area development, population served and construction factors would be considered during the review.

The corridor is approximately five or ten miles wide. Exact location of the pavement, four-lane divided highway with controlled access, will be determined later.

Sends Abortion Bills To House Floor Tuesday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Two bills liberalizing the Illinois abortion law were recommended for passage Wednesday by the House Judiciary Committee.

The 16 to 6 vote, which sent the bill to the floor, was cheered by a group of 25 members of the Women's Liberation Movement from the University of Illinois.

The Illinois law makes abortion a criminal offense but states it is an affirmative defense if physicians perform an abortion when a mother's life is endangered.

One of the approved bills, offered by Rep. Leland Rayson, D-Tinley Park, would authorize doctors to perform an abortion before the 20th week of pregnancy.

The second measure, containing many restrictive provisions, was sponsored by Rep. Bernard Wolfe, D-Chicago.

Wolfe's measure also would legalize abortions by physicians in a licensed hospital prior to the 20th week.

After that period, however, it would be necessary to show the mother's life was in danger, her physical or mental health would be impaired, or there was a risk the child would be malformed or his mental capacity impaired.

In addition, Wolfe's bill provides certificates would have to be issued by three physicians or permission obtained from at least two members if a hospital has a committee on abortion.

In all cases, Wolfe's proposal would require written consent of the pregnant woman and her husband or if she were not married, have consent of parents or guardians.

Similar legislation was defeated in the House at the 1969 session.

Accident Occurs, Cyclist Treated

14-year old Jane Williams, of 342 East Washington, was treated at Norris Hospital for injuries received at 8:20 p.m. Wednesday when she rode her bicycle into the path of an auto at East Douglas and Mauvasterre.

Woman Driver Hurt Seriously In Car Crash

A young Jacksonville woman remains in critical condition at St. John's Hospital where she was taken with injuries suffered in a one-car accident shortly before midnight Tuesday.

A hospital spokesman said Margo Gilmore, 18, of 318 Finley, remains under constant observation in the intensive care unit. She was injured in the accident three miles west of Springfield on U.S. 36 near Curran.

The Gilmore car was east-bound, according to state police, when it ran out of control, left the highway and overturned, and struck a stop sign. Miss Gilmore was thrown from the wreckage.

One Hospitalized After Accident

A young woman was injured in an accident on Route 36-54 at Orleans at 1:45 p.m. Wednesday.

An ambulance rushed 20-year old Janet English, of Murrayville, to Passavant Hospital where her condition Wednesday evening was listed as fair.

State police said she was driving eastward when her car collided with a pickup truck driven by Gilbert McQueen, of Route One, Franklin. McQueen was crossing the highway from a country road when the accident occurred, knocking his truck into a nearby yard.

He was not injured but officers ticketed him for failure to yield the right of way.

Mayor Refuses Special Meeting With Linemen

Mayor Dan Lahey shortly before noon Wednesday announced that a written request from nine city linemen asking for a meeting with the mayor, aldermen and utilities superintendent would not be granted.

Lahey said the city has, in his opinion, a working agreement with the nine linemen and no special meeting would be held until after the linemen first follow the grievance procedure by presenting their problems in writing to Utilities Superintendent Robert Jameson.

Bob Christa, shop steward for the nine linemen, was present for the meeting in the mayor's office. He said he doubted that the eight other linemen would consider going back to work without first having a meeting. "We're still just as sick today as we were the day we left," he said. Christa said his personal sickness involves nerves and that he thought the other linemen had the same problem.

The "sick-out" has been in effect one week. The city lines are currently being handled by an outside firm.

Mayor Lahey said that the written grievances should be presented to Mr. Jameson first.

Robert Rankin To Head Cass Hospital Fund

BEARDSTOWN — Robert B. Rankin has been named general chairman for Beardstown's hospital building fund campaign according to an announcement from the board of directors of Schmitt Memorial hospital.

He recently was promoted to the position of Public Affairs Representative, Western Division CIPS Co., and has been involved in all the successful United Fund drives.

He served as United Fund president the first and second years and is currently a director of the United Fund board.

The hospital fund campaign is to be conducted during May with a goal of $600,000 in local contributions toward an estimated total cost of about 2.2 million dollars. The balance, according to plan, will be a $600,000 grant from the Illinois Department of Public Health and a million dollar revenue bond issue to be repaid from hospital revenue.

Chairman Rankin says the campaign organization is complete and will be announced later this week.

River Cresting Tom Phelps, weather observer, said Wednesday the Illinois river had apparently crested at 19 feet.

Previously it had been forecast the stage would reach 19.4 by May 30.

Currently flood waters have covered two roads and several hundred acres of low-lying farm lands in the Sangamon Valley.

Committee Divided Over Tax Question

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Revenue Committee of the Illinois Constitutional Convention Wednesday failed to muster a majority vote on the personal property tax question but produced two minorities.

Chairman John M. Karns Jr. of Belleville said the two points of view would be perfected as two minority reports to the whole convention. After perfection, one may attract a majority of the 18 committee members.

Both minority reports assume the constitutional amendment to remove personal property taxes on individuals will be adopted in the Nov. 3 referendum. Therefore, both reports start by prohibiting taxing personal property of individuals when measured by value.

The minority report which gained the most adherents for the time being — nine — was proposed by Vice Chairman Dawn Clark Netcher of Chicago and Delegate Frank Cicero of Evanston.

This report grants the legislature — in taxing by valuation other personal property not owned by individuals — authority to classify or to let local governments classify such property. The legislature could also abolish personal property taxes by valuation in any or all classes.

Seven committee members voted for the other proposal by Delegate Maurice Scott of Springfield.

Besides assuming passage of the Nov. 3 proposal, Scott proposes to let the legislature classify all other personal property measured for taxation by value until 1982.

In addition, starting next year Scott would let the legislature exempt personal property measured by value for taxation gradually during the next 10 years. But after 1981, there could be no more taxation of any kind of personal property when measured by value.

Meyer said that one of the skunks was killed during the daytime north of the Leland Lake area and west of the Poor Farm road. He said the skunk produced plenty of clinical evidence that it was rabid.

The other skunk was killed on the Old State Road by an auto also during the daytime. Meyer said skunks, which are nocturnal animals, exhibit sickness of some sort anytime they are sighted during the day.

He advised owners of pets and livestock to check that vaccinations are up to date.

William Meyer, of the Morgan County Health Department, urged area residents Wednesday to pay close attention to pets and livestock for rabies symptoms after reports that two rabid skunks were killed in the area this week.

Previously it had been forecast the stage would reach 19.4 by May 30.

Currently flood waters have covered two roads and several hundred acres of low-lying farm lands in the Sangamon Valley.

He further stated that Mr. Jameson would have three days to act upon the difficulties. After that period of time, the grievances would then be sent to the mayor.

The mayor said he contacted "several aldermen" during the morning to get their opinions on the request for a special meeting. "Most of the aldermen agreed with my position, which would be to follow the procedures outlined in the contract first."

Christa said he would relay the message to the eight other linemen at a meeting later Wednesday.

Linemen Unhappy

The City Light and Power Company's nine striking linemen requested a meeting with Utilities Superintendent Robert Jameson late Wednesday afternoon after discussing the mayor's refusal to call a special meeting to hear the group's grievances.

The request went to Jameson's office about 4:45 p.m. Wednesday after linemen were told by Mayor Dan Lahey they must follow terms of their working agreement in submitting such requests.

Jameson would make no comment after receiving the request, indicating that he wants to consult legal counsel first. He said he would deliver a statement to the press sometime this morning.

Bob Christa, shop steward for the group, said he was very disappointed with the mayor's failure to call a meeting of the council to hear the problems, but that he would comply with the mayor's request and file a formal, written grievance.

"In the past," Christa said, "anything involving safety of men has been handled promptly, simply by verbally notifying either the superintendent, the mayor, or chairman of the electric committee of the council."

As an example, Christa pointed to a rebate received by the city amounting to about $8,000 recently. The grievance was filed, in writing, held for three days and returned with the explanation that no violation of a labor contract was evident in connection with Blue Cross. The request asked that the prorata share paid by the city employees (linemen) be returned to the employee either in the form of a check or payment on future premiums.

In addition, starting next year Scott would let the legislature exempt personal property measured by value for taxation gradually during the next 10 years. But after 1981, there could be no more taxation of any kind of personal property when measured by value.

In addition, Scott would let the General Assembly pass laws to provide for the loss by revenue by local governments because of abolition of the personal property tax when measured by value. The loss has been estimated at $300 million a year.

The state could grant a portion of its tax collections to local governments, under Scott's proposal, or local governments could be authorized to impose non-property taxes in place of the personal property tax by value.

One committee member abstained because neither point of view was acceptable to him. Another member was absent but is expected to support Scott's proposal.

Property may be measured for taxation by value, size, weight, water displacement, horsepower or whatever measure is designated by law.

The legal meaning of individuals is in dispute among committee members, some of whom say the Nov. 3 constitutional amendment proposal was poorly drafted. Besides individuals, taxable units are corporations.
